Big Four Ministers Are Nearer Agreement

French Yields On German Reparations Issue At Conference

MOSCOW, March 20—The big four council of foreign ministers, plagued until now by divergencies and disputes, sailed into calm waters today under the flag of two major developments.

They were:

1—Deputies appointed to draft a peace treaty for Germany agreed to hear former enemies of the allies which later turned against the Hitler Reich.

2—France modified her position regarding reparations, agreeing that these may be paid out of current German production "with certain assurances."

Foreign minister Georges Bidault presented the economic case for France.

HE REFERRED at the beginning to the remark made by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov yesterday that various four-power attitudes may well be reconciled. Bidault said:

"If, as Mr. Molotov believes, it is possible at the same time to maintain German coal exports at a desirable level, limit the increase of industrial potential to peaceful activities alone and set afoot a program of reparations based upon current production, the French delegation is favorable."

Bidault was firm, however, in stressing the necessity for definite limitations on German steel production.

HE TURNED the tables upon the Russians for their advocacy of increased German turnout of steel. The French statesman pulled out of his briefcase the

AGED GREENFIELD MAN MURDERED IN HIS HOME

GREENFIELD, O., March 20—Leroy Woodland, 74-year-old pensioner, died in Greenfield municipal hospital today of a mysteriously inflicted blow on the head.

Highland County Coroner W. M. Hoyt said the blow crushed Woodland's skull and jaw and apparently was inflicted by a blunt instrument.

The murder occurred at Woodland's home in Higginsville, just outside Greenfield.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

Greek leftists say Harry Truman has set out to become "master of the world"—obviously somebody has been sending them touched up photographs.

One look at Harry Truman and anyone would know he's not the type who would want to become master of the world unless he was drafted for it.

He doesn't squawk like Mussolini, screech like Hitler or scratch like Napoleon—somehow they've confused the motto of Missouri, "show me!" with "I'll show you!"

It is true that we are sending 12 warships to Greece but the Greeks grow fine olives and we could use some fresh olive branches.

Anyway it will take our mind off March wheat which is acting like the March hare.

It's gone up so high that wheat in the field has passed corn in the bottle.

DECLARED rightful governor of Georgia, Melvin E. Thompson, who was the lieutenant governor, happily receives congratulations in Atlanta as his wife and mother, Mrs. E. I. Thompson, left, look on. The state supreme court made the decision which moved Herman Talmadge, who claimed the governorship, out of the executive office.

NEW GEORGIA Scioto And Darbyville GOVERNOR TALKS Schools Forced To Close

Thompson Makes His First Appearance As State Chief Executive

ATLANTA, GA., March 20—The fate of Georgia's white primary was in the hands of acting Gov. M. C. Thompson today.

Governor Thompson went before a joint session of the house and senate at noon, making his first public appearance as Georgia's full-fledged, legally recognized chief executive.

The 43-year-old former revenue commissioner was expected to make known his views on the white primary, as well as the possibility of an extra session. The current session of the general assembly ends Saturday.

All bills signed by Herman Talmadge in his two-month occupation of the governor's office are null and void after a ruling to that effect by Attorney General Eugene Cook.

If the general assembly follows the suggestion of Attorney General Cook, it can avoid the necessity of re-enacting all of the legislation.

Cook advised that the house and senate agree that all bills now bearing Talmadge's signature be resubmitted to Thompson for his approval or veto.

Vacancies now exist in the offices of commissioner of revenue (Continued on Page Two)

OHIO'S FLYING FARMERS READY TO MEET FRIDAY

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—If there are blue skies over Columbus tomorrow, Ohio Farm and Home week visitors will see an estimated 100 pioneer "pasture pilots" circle and land at Don Scott field.

Arrival of an expected 200 air-minded farmers on the Ohio State University campus will mark the first meeting of flying farmers during a farm and home week program anywhere in the United States.

William Grimes, Delaware, vice president of Ohio Flying Farmers, reported that tomorrow's special program for flying farmers will also mark the first meeting of his group since its inception last July.

Organized as a flying fraternity to further the cause of agriculture and to promote safe private aviation, the 138 original members already perform aerial surveys for contour farming, and crop dusting and spraying to kill weeds and harmful insects.

Grimes pointed out that Ohio farmers, like those in other states, are indulging in a great deal of pleasure flying. He stated that 75 per cent of new light planes sold today are going to farmers.

With nine schools in Circleville and Pickaway county closed Thursday the prevalent wave of severe colds and influenza had caused the absence of more than 2,000 boys and girls from their school classes. There are 21 public schools in the city and county.

Two more rural schools—the Scioto township high and elementary school and the Darbyville elementary school in Muhlenberg township—were closed Thursday it was announced by George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools.

The Duval and South Bloomfield elementary schools in Harrison township had previously closed, thus four out of the total of 15 rural schools have been compelled to cease operations because of illness among students.

Circleville's four public elementary and one high school closed at noon Wednesday by order of the board of education and Supt. Frank Fischer said they would remain closed until Monday morning.

Supt. McDowell was unable to state when the four rural schools will resume operations.

Circleville schools have a total enrollment of 1,492. Supt. Fischer said, and Wednesday morning (Continued on Page Two)

ANOTHER BRIBE STORY HEARD BY LIQUOR PROBERS

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—Another story of attempted bribery to permit the operation of slot machines—this time of $10,000 a year—was laid before the senate's special liquor investigating committee today.

Sgt. Russell Jones, head of the Cincinnati police department's vice squad, told the committee he had been offered the job of agent-in-charge of the Cincinnati liquor enforcement office in 1945.

But the offer, he stated, was withdrawn when he refused the attempted bribe. He left the inference that if he had agreed to permit slots to operate, he would have been given the position.

LIQUOR BARGAIN SALE TO START IN OHIO MONDAY

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—A half-million-dollar liquor bargain sale beginning next Monday was announced today by state liquor director Stanley B. Cofall.

Cofall said that the cut in prices averaging 49 cents per bottle was made to reduce excess inventories in state warehouses. He said that 22 different items were being put on sale, including both cordials and whiskies.

MINERS AGREE TO LEWIS ORDER

Most Coal Diggers Slated To Forget Strikes Until June 30

PITTSBURGH, March 20—The nation's bituminous coal miners today put their stamp of approval on John L. Lewis' stick to work order and said they were ready to stay on the job and continue digging coal after March 31.

The news of Lewis' cancelled strike threat spread over the soft coal patches as the miners began changing shifts. Generally they appeared to go along with the order until June 30.

Many even said they would attempt to prevent wildcat work stoppage on their traditional holiday—John Mitchell day—April 1. John Mitchell day was founded in honor of the fourth president of the United Mine Workers under whose 10-year tenure the union grew from 33,000 members to 300,000 by 1906—making it one of the strongest labor bodies in the nation.

The general feeling among the miners of the rich bituminous fields of western Pennsylvania and West Virginia was that they (Continued on Page Two)

LANCASTER, O., March 20—O. H. Schaaf resigned today as principal of Lancaster high school to accept a similar position with the Cleveland Heights high school. Miss Ruth Hudson was named acting principal of the Lancaster school.

Mrs. Anderson Tells Of 'Terrible' Conditions

"Terrible" is the one descriptive word used by Mrs. Martha Goeller Anderson, former Circleville resident, in telling about conditions in European countries she visited during the last seven months.

Mrs. Anderson, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Goeller, Sr., 304 East Mound street, arrived in Circleville, Tuesday, with her husband, Major Frank Anderson, U. S. Army, who is on a 60-day leave after spending almost three years in Europe.

Following a brief visit with Mrs. Anderson's parents the couple went to their home in the village of Ray, south of Chillicothe. Major Anderson was stationed in France for about two and one-half years, later was stationed in Germany, and he was also for a short time in Switzerland. At the duration of 60-day leave he expects to be assigned to an Army station either in Texas or Kansas.

Mrs. Anderson left Circleville in July, 1946, to join her husband abroad. She was accompanied by their son, * in Anderson, aged 2½ years. Mrs. Anderson said she saw much suffering in Germany and France where many people lack proper food, clothing, shelter and fuel.

FARM BUREAU IS ATTACKED BY EDWIN J. BATH

Lobbyist For 18 Years Says Co-op 'Dangerous To Our Form Of Government'

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—The Ohio Farm Bureau was condemned as "dangerous to our form of government" today by the man who served it as lobbyist for 18 years.

Edwin J. Bath, the diminutive firebrand who is now a special assistant in the state agriculture department at $8,000 a year, said he objected "to the one-man control exercised by Murray D. Lincoln and the bureau's tieup with labor in ganging up on industry."

He continued:

"I don't like this talk of revolution that is coming from Farm Bureau leaders."

Bath was appearing before the senate agriculture committee in support of a bill to increase the state agriculture board from 10 to 12 members. He explained his appearance by declaring he was "accused of being a stooge for Lincoln."

BATH DECLARED he personally was against the Farm Bureau or other co-ops and declared he wished to alleviate the expressed fears of some that he was bringing the Farm Bureau "philosophy" into the state government.

"I would not bring it in," Bath declared. "With much of that philosophy I dissent."

Bath declared he also objected to tax favoritism shown farm co-ops over private enterprise and declared that as far as the Farm Bureau was concerned he did not like "a board of trustees that is a rubber stamp to Lincoln."

SPRING SLATED TO START WITH RAIN FALLING

Miss Spring of 1947 is due to arrive in the Circleville area—with her luggage—at 6:13 a. m. Friday.

The luggage will include a heavy coat, galoshes, and an umbrella—with perhaps ear muffs and snowshoes.

The weatherman predicted cool and cloudy weather for Friday with probable rain.

The thermometer registered 33 degrees above zero at 8 a. m. Thursday. Light snow turned to a drizzle of rain and by 1:15 p. m. Thursday the mercury had climbed to 40 degrees. At the latter hour one year ago the reading was 61 degrees.

On March 21, 1946, the date of Miss Spring's last arrival, the low reading was 34 degrees and the high was 71.

AUSSIES WANT TREATY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20—T. A. Pyman, Australian delegate to the United Nations trusteeship council, declared today that "Australia is very much in favor of General MacArthur's proposal for conclusion of a peace treaty with Japan this year."

ESCAPE INJURY

DOVER, O., March 20—Joseph M. Demora, 31, and Betty Londrass, 23, both of Cleveland, thanked a minor miracle today for their escape without serious injury when their automobile somersaulted 65 feet into the ice-covered Ohio canal.

Bonuses For Ohio War Veterans And Teachers Move Step Nearer Facts

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—Bonuses for Ohio's school teachers and war veterans moved a long step nearer today.

A joint house-senate military affairs subcommittee agreed on all phases of a soldier bonus except the method of financing, while the senate finance committee opened hearings on Governor Herbert's proposal to pay a six million dollar "bonus" to teachers the first half of this year.

The soldier bonus tentatively agreed upon would eliminate the overseas differential originally proposed and pay flat $10 a month for each month's service between Pearl Harbor and V-J days.

Previously, $15 a month for overseas service had been suggested. The flat $10-a-month is expected to cut the cost to about 375 million dollars, to be paid for by bonds maturing in 20 or 25 years.

The committee agreed there would be a $50 minimum bonus and no maximum. Actually, since there are 46 months between the deadlines, a $460 maximum is provided.

However, the immediate survivors of a person killed in service would receive $500.

It was agreed also that the bonus, if approved by a three-fifths vote of the legislature and then by the people at the November election, would be paid only to persons having at least three months' service in the rank of Army captain or lower, and who were residents of Ohio for one year prior to entering service.

TO BE DECIDED at the next meeting next week is the method of financing. One plan being considered is to levy additional taxes, possibly on real estate. (Continued on Page Two)

CO-ED, FIANCE DENY MURDERS

Wealthy California Girl, Youth Accused Of Dynamite Plot

SANTA ANA, Cal., March 20—A 17-year-old heiress-coed and her young fiance insisted today they were innocent of a suspected bizarre murder plot in the violent deaths of the girl's parents in a yacht explosion.

Booked at the Santa Ana jail on suspicion of murder were Beulah Overell, mink-clad University of Southern California co-ed, and her strapping 220-pound sweetheart, George Gollum, 21, a Los Angeles City College pre-medical student.

Police investigated reports that the girl's parents, Walter E. and Mrs. Beulah Overell, Flintridge, Cal., had opposed the couple's intended marriage.

The betrothed girl and young man refuted these reports, contending that the wealthy Mr. and Mrs. Overell actually approved the match.

The couple was arrested after 38 sticks of unexploded dynamite and an electric timing device were found in the wreckage of the Overell's 50-foot power cruiser, the "Mary E", which blew up at Newport Beach, Cal., last Saturday night.

The bodies of Overell, wealthy head of the Washington Finance company, and one-time owner of the Overell Furniture company, Los Angeles, and his wife were found in the cruiser's galley.

STUDENTS CONTINUE ON STRIKE AT CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, O., March 20—An estimated 100 students, ranging in age from 10 to 16, paraded in front of suburban North College Hill schools today as the second day of a student strike began.

The striking students are protesting failure of the community's board of education to retain Dr. William A. Cook as superintendent of schools.

Of a normal attendance of 500 students at adjoining junior high and senior high schools, only about 50 students were reported in attendance when classes opened this morning. All were in the senior high school.

CONGRESS TOLD BALKAN AID IS VITALLY NEEDED

Acting State Secretary Says Middle East Will Fall Without U. S. Help

WASHINGTON, March 20—Acting Secretary of State Acheson told congress today that President Truman's plan to check the spread of Communism by aiding Greece and Turkey would not bring war.

Rep. Mansfield (D) Mont., asked Acheson at the house foreign affairs committee hearing on the Greco-Turkish aid proposal whether U. S. military and financial help to the two countries might not lead to war.

Acheson replied:

"I was going to say there was no possibility of its leading to war."

"I don't see how it can lead to war."

"By strengthening the forces of democracy and freedom and their economic structure it will do a great deal to eliminate a situation which might produce friction among the great powers."

THE ACTING secretary told the committee that unless the President's request for 400 million dollars to aid Greece and Turkey is approved totalitarian regimes will control the Middle East.

Rep. Fulton (R) Pa., asked Acheson to answer with "yes or no" this question:

"Suppose Russia adopts the same policy toward Greece? Has the state department developed a plan of action?"

Acheson answered:

"No."

He said he preferred to discuss with the committee in secret session the effect the President's proposal would have on U. S.-Russian relations.

Acheson testified:

"It is not too much to say that the outcome in Greece and Turkey will be watched with deep concern throughout the vast area (Continued on Page Two)

POLICE CHIEF DENIES CHARGES OF COUNCILMEN

Police Chief William F. McCrady flatly denied, Thursday, that he ever ordered police officers not to raid a gambling place and he said the charges hurled at Tuesday night's council meeting by Councilman George L. Crites were "untrue."

Councilman Crites told the council that two policemen—not named—informed him that Chief McCrady had warned them that if they raided a downtown gambling establishment he would suspend them.

Chief McCrady declared that he called in all of the six policemen under his supervision, Wednesday, and that each, in the presence of witnesses, asserted he had made no statement of the kind to Councilman Crites.

Other police officers said Thursday that, in their opinion, the charges of police inefficiency made at the council session resulted from the request of Chief McCrady and the six men serving under him "for a living wage."

UN COUNCIL IS FACING TEST ON MINING CHARGE

Tribunal Needs Action On Corfu Incident To Regain Prestige

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 20—The United Nations security council is facing a test of strength today in dealing again with the British complaint that Albania committed "a crime against civilization" by secretly planting mines in the Corfu channel.

Inability of the eleven-nation tribunal over a period of two months to assert its own authority and reach a decision on this comparatively minor incident has given rise to growing criticism.

Concern over this viewpoint and the shock to UN prestige in the wake of President Truman's by-passing of the international organization in recommending aid to Greece and Turkey has reached such proportions that key officials at Lake Success and in the various capitals are consulting over the situation.

SECRETARY - GENERAL Trygve Lie is anxiously sounding out leading representatives of powers at UN and casting about for ways and means of restoring lost prestige. His efforts are concentrated on inducing any or all of the representative governments to make a gesture of firm support and unbroken adherence to UN.

Chief target as the "mischievous" in the family of nations in recent days has been the United States in the wake of President Truman's announcement on direct aid to Greece and Turkey. Although American delegations spokesmen claim that there is no direct connection, it is regarded as significant that Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. representative, is leaving for Washington today to confer with high government officials.

Diplomatic observers are inclined to believe that Austin, acting as spokesman for the majority opinion of most delegations here, may urge upon Washington staging a demonstration that United States faith in the support of the United Nations remains unshaken.

REBEL PLANES BOMB CAPITAL OF PARAGUAY

ASUNCION, March 20—Rebel aircraft bombed and strafed Paraguayan government positions for the first time today amid indications that the revolutionists are planning a large-scale ground attack on the capital city of Asuncion.

The rebel planes were believed to have been four which failed to return to a government airfield recently after a routine mission against the insurrectionists. Meanwhile government militia and police rushed to strategic points in Asuncion while reports of the impending rebel offensive heightened city-wide tension.

The rebel radio warned Asuncion inhabitants that Chaco troops under Colonel Ramos were massing for an operation against President Morinigo's stronghold.

YOUNGSTERS TO BE TRIED IN PROBATE COURT FRIDAY

The lads were arrested by police early Tuesday night at the ice plant. In each of the three burglaries, police said, entrance was gained via a small window, and in one of the intrusions 10 ice tickets were stolen.

DEPUTIES AGREE TO LISTEN TO HITLER AIDES

text of a statement made in Berlin on Dec. 31, 1945 by Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, whose troops overran the German capital.

Sokolovsky's statement said: "To permit Germany an annual capacity of nine million tons of steel would mean war in a few years."

After quoting this remark, Bidault asked:

"Then what must we expect from a capacity of from ten to twelve million tons?"

The Soviets have based their demands for increased German production as the best and surest method of obtaining reparations for war damage.

Bidault said that France, like the United States, is prepared to examine figures on German industrial production.

Bidault said that if Germany needs more steel to raise her production to any higher level that may be authorized. "France, Belgium, Luxembourg and other European countries are perfectly capable of furnishing her with the required balance."

BIDAULT took issue with the opposition voiced by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin to international control of the Ruhr valley and to guarantees that France would be well taken care of in receiving sufficient coal from the Ruhr mines.

Bidault asked Bevin to reconsider his objections to coal guarantees for France. He insisted that the margin of "insufficient use" of coal in Germany is considerable, and said that even now coal consumption in Germany is greater per capita than in France.

DEPUTIES dealing with the problem of former pro-German nations agreed rapidly on what had been a thorny problem. The deputies said they would recommend that these former enemy states who used their armed forces against Germany should be "heard" along with other allied states by the council of foreign ministers "at an appropriate stage."

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent urination, backache, and burning when you urinate are signs of something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pain, leg pain, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache, and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

He said this was necessary so that "a final and intelligent judgment can be reached upon a foreign policy which will affect for good or ill not only our own country but the entire world."

The acting secretary said that armed bands under Communist leadership are already fighting "Greek against Greek." He added:

"In the event of economic collapse and government paralysis, these bands would undoubtedly increase in strength until they took over Greece and instituted a totalitarian government similar to those prevailing in the countries north of Greece."

"The rule of an armed minority would fasten itself upon the people of Greece."

Acheson said the situation in Turkey is substantially different but that Turkey also needs United States help.

AGED FATHER OF TWO PRINCESSES DIES ON COAST

Mystery Surrounding Death Of Former Socialite Partially Lifted

SACRAMENTO, CAL., March 20—Reports that Edmund Stallo, 85-year-old father of two European princesses, had died in abject poverty in Sacramento Sunday were branded as "completely false" today by Mrs. Ardean Kennedy, Carmichael, Cal.

Mrs. Kennedy said Stallo had been a patient at the nursing home she conducts near Sacramento since October, 1945.

He died Sunday of bronchial pneumonia in Sacramento county hospital.

Mrs. Kennedy said the reports that Stallo had died in poverty probably grew out of the fact that he died in a county institution. She said he had been placed in the hospital only after efforts on the part of "four or five doctors" had failed to get him space at Mercy or Sutter hospitals in Sacramento.

She said Stallo was given a private room at Sacramento hospital and was in the continuous care of two private nurses until his death.

MRS. KENNEDY said Stallo had been given "the best of medical care" while in her charge.

She said he had been placed in her care by a former wife, Mrs. A. V. Thompson, San Francisco.

Mrs. Kennedy's statements lifted a shroud of secrecy which had been cast around the death and burial of the man who a generation ago was a well-known figure in social circles of New York and Cincinnati.

Hospital officials said they had no information beyond the fact that he had died. The funeral directors refused to discuss the case "on strict orders from the family." Stallo's name was not listed in the obituary columns of Sacramento newspapers.

Mrs. Kennedy said the body is being taken to Cincinnati for burial in the family plot.

She said Stallo was the son of a corporation lawyer, who was minister to Rome under the administration of Grover Cleveland. His first wife was the daughter of a wealthy family, and the two daughters born of this union were subsequently married to European princes.

BOGGS URGES SMALLER 1947 POULTRY CROP

Poultry producers of Pickaway county should plan a smaller production of chickens in 1947 than in 1946, according to Chairman John G. Boggs of the County AAA committee. Goal for chickens raised on to choice 26-28; medium to good 22-26; culs to medium 12-20-22. SHEEP AND LAMBS RECEIPTS — light-lambs, fair to choice 20-21.25; lambs, common to fair 14.10-20; ewes, fair to choice 4.70-7.

farms, as recommended by the U. S. department of Agriculture and the Ohio USDA council, Boggs said, calls for decreased production as a means of helping to adjust the nation's farm flocks to a desirable level by January 1, 1948.

Boggs also pointed out that the adjustments sought in Ohio will help to balance off changes in the production pattern in feed-deficit states in 1946. Poultry flocks, in such states, he said, need to be replenished. In other states, where feed problems were less severe in 1946, it will be necessary to hold production to the same or somewhat lower levels than last year. Without such adjustments, Boggs said, the nation faces the prospect of over-supply in another year and consequent reaction in farm prices.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Do Men Like Women?

Maybe you read that recent article in a national magazine, claiming that American men don't really like the company of women. They just put them up on a pedestal and leave them there.

But I wouldn't say that that was so in our town. Look at any married couple—like the Cuppers. Jane wouldn't nag if Dee spent his evenings "with the boys"—but actually Dee likes nothing better than to stay home by the fire, sharing a glass of beer with Jane, playing cribbage, or just talking.

And when he does go out, for an afternoon of fishing down at Seward's Creek, or for an evening glass of beer at Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern, Jane is almost always with him (except when she's got a spot of baking in the oven).

From where I sit, respect doesn't rule out everyday companionship . . . and never should. They go together—essential parts of a successful marriage.

Hang on to your Hearts, Folks — it's easy to lose them to this one

Sure as sunrise, it's going to happen:

Someday you're going to slip into a sleek-lined Buick Convertible "just to see what it feels like."

You'll want to find out for yourself if it's as wonderful as it seems to ride in all this stunning style — to be boss of the year's brightest highway beauty.

Well, you find a wheel that seems molded to your hand, deep, wide seats that might have been fashioned for your own special comfort.

You'll look out over a broad bonnet, front-tipped with a richly gleaming grille, and know how a king feels sitting on his throne.

Just listen as eight big Fireball cylinders erupt into life — then settle to a sweet contented purr.

Watch—as each threatening road-jar meekly subsides under the gentle magic of soft coil springs on all four wheels.

Get the feel of roadweight that's like a steadying hand guarding every mile. Try the handy push-button controls that operate the top, the door windows, even the front seat adjustment.

Test the lightness of the wheel, the quick bite of brakes, the instant upsurge when you touch off the gas treadle.

By now, you find yourself succumbing completely.

This, you tell yourself, is meant for me. How do I make it permanent?

The first step is to see us — and get your name down.

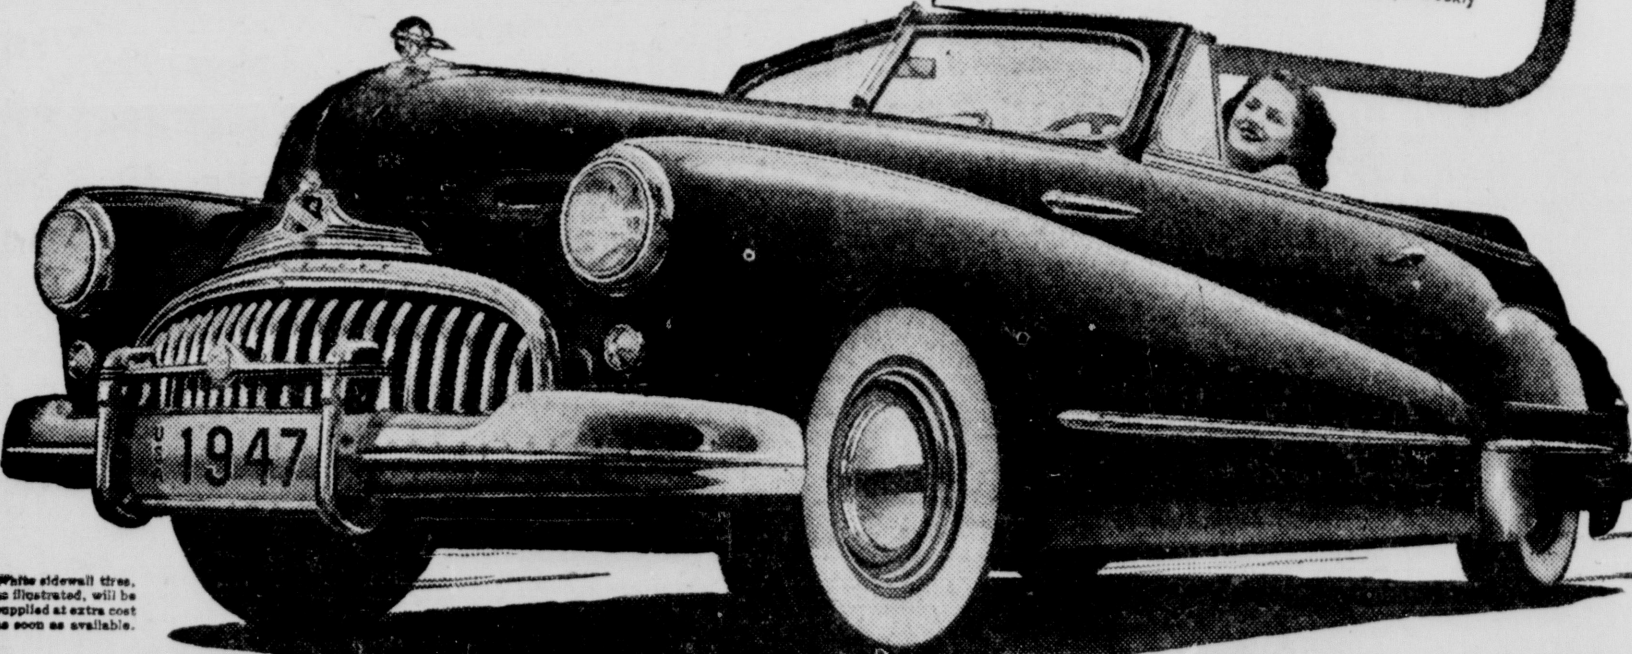

After that — the busy beavers of Buick's on-the-ball production staff will move heaven and earth to join you and your one-and-only the first possible moment.

LIVING IN ONE'S ERA
IN REVOLT AGAINST what they term the "dehumanizing" combination of factory work and congested city living, are the "decentralists". They would have man rediscover his "whole personality" by existence in rural homesteads and by self-creation of necessities. Machinery's mass production, by forcing competition for world markets, caused both world wars, and most of the world's ills, they believe. The School of Living at Suffern, N. Y., and Arthur Morgan's Community Service Inc., at Yellow Springs, O., are examples of this philosophy which glorifies handcraft and a social economy divorced from the machine.
There is much appeal in the idyllic picture of a small community where citizens are artists and liberated from industrial pressures and standardization. But the Machine Age has come, and after it the Atomic Age. Trying to avoid the actualities of the era in which one is born means running into inconsistencies. Who of the decentralists would forego the vast intellectual benefits made possible by the machine age in publishing? Would they give up planes, trains and automobiles in favor of the ox cart? In sickness would they turn from the mechanized therapy of a modern hospital?
A sane life pattern can be maintained within the framework of an era. Effort can be directed to making the present as good as possible for the greatest number now living. Man can achieve fulfillment in any age, in any circumstance, if he will but use his will and his intelligence.

LOST ART OF WALKING
ALMOST ANY DAY now the hiking clubs will start up again. In these are people of varying backgrounds and interests brought together by a knowledge of what legs are for. Every big city has them, and some smaller communities. They meet at the end of some car line, walk what seems an amazing distance in this age of the auto to some designated spot where they picnic—and then walk back.
They not only benefit their bodies by this lost art of walking. They help their inner beings, for many of them are lonely individuals. They have come from country towns where they used to walk—to church, to the grocery store, to a neighbor's. It's been difficult to get acquainted in the big impersonal city. The walking club starts friendships. Sometime the walkers rise, on holidays and Sundays, extra early and start out for a bird walk. They go to a wide stretch of parkland, or to the country. Some one who has made a study of bird life, leads them.
People don't need to join a walking club, to walk. But they should do more walking. The automobile is a wonderful blessing.
Yet it's being depended on so generally that the human body suffers. Walking is the best kind of exercise, physically and mentally.

What is more annoying, and at the same time more reassuring, than a hot spring sun pouring through the window onto a fellow's neck when he has copy to write?

ASSIGNMENT: AMERICA

WASHINGTON, March 20 — Since the new eightieth congress carries history's highest percentage of veterans (just short of a majority in both houses), many ex-servicemen and women across the country still look to it for large amounts of pro-veteran legislation.
They appear doomed to disappointment, for several reasons.
To begin with, veterans in congress seldom reach full agreement on any one measure. Politically, they are divided between the two major parties, and thus have definite party commitments. In addition, their personnel includes veterans of three wars the Spanish-American, World War I and World War II, and their points of view on veteran legislation tend to be conditioned accordingly.
Besides those contradictions within their own ranks, they face an economy-minded congressional majority, a nation-wide post-war de-emphasis on military service—prompted by potent anti-veteran lobbying groups—and the competition of extremely pressing labor, tax and foreign affairs problems.
Whatever the reasons, various veterans organizations have reached the conclusion that several planned pieces of ex-serviceman legislation now have been placed in the permanent pigeonhole.
For instance, they say it now is pretty definitely settled that there will be no federal bonus, no preferential tax exemption for veterans and no extension of social security coverage for periods of military service.
In support of that and similar pessimistic prophecies, such spokesmen for veterans groups quote recent publicized statements by two Republican leaders — Rep. Harold Knutson, Minnesota chairman of the powerful house ways and means committee, and senator Eugene Millkin, Colorado chairman of the senate finance committee, which controls most of the veterans measures in the upper house.
Both saw little hope for new or even extended veterans benefits. Knutson went farther, saying he believes the present exemption of $1,500 granted military personnel for income tax purposes in the war years should not be continued after the official end of the war.
Open expressions of doubt by other congressional leaders that any major veterans legislation would be passed during this session were underscored by these recent developments on capitol hill:
Legislation to increase the monthly income ceilings for veteran job trainees seemed to be stalled in the house veterans affairs committee room because the chairman, Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers, would not get house rules committee permission to place it on the floor for vote.
The same sort of delaying tactics seem to be holding in committee the proposal of permit veterans to cash their terminal leave bonds, despite the reported efforts of Speaker Joe Martin to get it on the floor for action. A petition to pull it out of committee still is far short of the necessary 218 signatures.
Public hearings on bills to raise the monthly subsistence allowance for veterans in college (no $65 and $90) show signs of going on indefinitely, depending on when the various college and university presidents and registrars can find time to come from all parts of the country to testify. Rep. Homer A. Ramey, chairman of the subcommittee considering the bills, has indicated no intention of setting a time limit on the hearings until every such individual who wishes to testify can be heard.
There are countless other indications of the likelihood that this session will close with little veterans legislation passed. Confusion as to what is wanted—both in the

Report on a New Method Of Treating Pneumonia Patients
By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
TREATMENT of more than 1,000 cases of pneumonia without a single fatality at U. S. Naval Hospital, Great Lakes, Illinois, during the war, points the way to a life-saving routine of handling those sick of this serious ailment.
Dr. Gordon J. Kaske of the U. S. Navy Medical Corps in reporting on these cases, contrasts the results obtained when patients were treated with sulfadiazine alone and when the sulfonamide drug was used in connection with penicillin. When the two drugs were used together, the patient's recovery was much more rapid than when either was used alone.
The Treatment Given
After this fact was established, the following treatment was given: Penicillin was given by injection into the muscle as soon as a diagnosis of pneumonia was made and then continued every three hours until recovery took place. Meanwhile sulfadiazine was also given at four-hour intervals.
If the white blood cell count fell too low, sulfadiazine was discontinued. If the patient had a high temperature or signs of lack of water in the body, a solution of salt and sugar was given into a vein.
Shortness of Breath
In those cases in which there were cyanosis, shortness of breath and rapid pulse, oxygen treatment was carried out. The proper drug was employed for relieving severe pain, restlessness or severe cough. The pneumonia started in all cases with such symptoms as fever, chills, cough, pains in the chest and frequently the coughing up of blood. The face was flushed; there were fever blisters about the lips and the breathing was rapid. There was a great deal of sweating and often cyanosis or a bluish coloring to the skin.
Dr. Kaske points out that in the treatment of pneumonia, good nursing care is an item of major importance. During the period of recovery all of the pneumonia patients were allowed some manner of activity. The use of penicillin was continued until the patient's temperature remained normal for a period of about three to five days. If, after this time, he continued to be free of fever, he was allowed out of bed.
The patients were not allowed to return to their usual activities until they had regained their normal weight and no abnormal conditions were found in the chest on physical and X-ray examinations. Not one of the patients treated in this manner succumbed to the pneumonia, and this fact should point the way toward the saving of many civilian lives this year.

SYNOPSIS
Young Sherry Kent refuses to forego the pleasure of a weekend at the farm of Steve Jeffrey, beloved family friend, even though her mother, Leda, and sister, Val, have changed their plans about going. Leda, attractive widow and highly successful business woman, is dining with Roger Bedloe, vice-president of her firm, and Val with wealthy Wade Carrington, with whom she is trying to forget her heartbreak over the death in action of her fiancé, Rick Colby. Val is tormented by the knowledge that had it not been for Leda's opposition, she and Rick would have married before he went overseas. Alighting from the train at Brundage, Sherry spies Steve's station wagon parked nearby and dines in to wait for him. To her surprise, attractive Lex Morelli, who introduces himself as Steve's hired man, takes the wheel. Lex had been in the brokerage business before the war, and upon his release from the Army had decided to get some practical experience before investing in a farm of his own. Warm-hearted, elderly Aunt Pen, who keeps house for Steve, greets Sherry joyously. Later, when Steve arrived, and all had consumed Aunt Pen's delicious dinner, a strange feeling of happiness stole over Sherry. She knew instantly her meeting with Lex was responsible. Her happiness is short lived, however, when Steve tells her Lex is engaged to be married. Lex was opposed to the marriage, because his fiancée was opposed to him buying a farm. During the night Sherry hears Lex pacing the floor and knocks on his door to invite him down to the kitchen for a snack. She tells him of her concern over Val, but is disappointed when he fails to confide his troubles to her. Meanwhile, at home Val phones Wade to pick her up at Susan Fyle's cocktail party. Despite the fact that he has been married and divorced several times, Wade has fallen deeply in love with Val.
CHAPTER ELEVEN
IN THE hallway, helping Val into her fox jacket, Wade's hands lingered caressingly on her shoulders. She smiled up at him obliquely, her pulses racing.
Wade said, his voice intimately low, "Suddenly, I wish we weren't going out to dinner. I'll mean another crowd, more noise—and I want you to myself, darling. I want that very much."
Val said prosaically, "But I'm hungry."
Wade laughed, shrugging into his overcoat, picking up his hat. "Never fear, sweet. I'll feed you. But afterwards—"
The Pump Room was crowded, but a waiter in livery led them immediately to the table Wade had reserved. It was a good table—Wade knew his way around. Val settled back comfortably against the padded leather bench, letting her wrap slip from her shoulders and looking about with casual interest while Wade ordered for them both. The atmosphere here always appealed to her—the little Negroes in their fantastic turbans and gorgeous raiment, weighed down with dignity, the food borne to the tables on flaming sword points, all against the restful background of slate-blue walls and sparkling crystal chandeliers. As always, her eyes sought the replica of the old pump near the entrance, the amusing anachronism that gave the smart supper club its name.
Wade said, as the waiter left, "There—that's done. And you shall eat, darling—although I always thought that people in love lost their appetites."
"Am I supposed to be in love?" Val asked, her smile teasing. "I hope so."
The orchestra started playing and people rose from tables all about them and converged on the dance floor.
Wade asked, "Shall we?" And then, as Val got up, he murmured close to her ear, "It's the only civilized way I can put my arms around you in these surroundings."
Dancing, they were beautiful to watch, moving so effortlessly, with such rhythmic and instinctive grace, to the persuasive swing of the music. They danced as though they were so enthralled with one another that they were unaware of the other dancers all about; as though their nearness created a small, inviolate world into which they had escaped.
And even when the music stopped and they went back to their table, their absorption in each other held. Eating, talking, lingering over their cigarettes and coffee, it seemed to Val that only they two in all the big crowded room were real, as though the rest were shadowy beings, without substance, moving unobtrusively beyond the edges of a dream. She had experienced this sensation before when she was with Wade Carrington. But never had the feeling been so strong, her surrender to it so willing. And it seemed to Val, remembering how earlier that evening she had fled from herself and from the searing memory of Rick, that the effect of Wade's personality upon hers was a good thing. If he could stimulate her feelings to quick response, if he could give her forgetfulness—well, what more was there than that? What more in the way of association could she want or need?
They danced once more. Then, walking back toward their table, Wade asked, his low voice coaxing, "Can't we go now, darling? I want to talk to you—really talk. There are things I want to say, something I want to ask—and I'll be darned if I'll ask it here."
Val smiled, offering no objection as he slipped her wrap about her shoulders. While he paid the check, adding his usual generous tip, she gathered up her purse and gloves with a heady little feeling of anticipation. She thought she knew what Wade wanted to tell her, possibly what he meant to ask. And somehow tonight she felt more certain what her answer would be than she had ever felt before.
If Wade's question concerned marriage, her answer would be yes. After all, why not? Val was too much of a realist to be insensible to the obvious advantages of marriage to Wade Carrington. His fortune was large and assured, even in these times of pyramiding taxes. The family background was good, although Wade himself had little to do with the rest of the Carringtons, whom he considered definitely stuffy. He was handsome, well-mannered, amusing and undeniably attractive. Val was aware, as they left the restaurant, of several feminine heads turning to watch Wade with approval. It was always like that. As for the disadvantages of marriage with Wade, Val went on with her thoughts, there was the first, the obvious one—the fact of his having been so many times married. A year ago, Val knew, she would have dismissed the idea of marrying a man who had already had three wives as completely ridiculous. But one change in a year. Susan Fyle, all that gay crowd Val had met through Susan, took Wade's marital adventures entirely for granted. So many people they knew were twice divorced—why not three times? It simply wasn't important. That was the attitude of Susan's crowd—and gradually it had become Val's attitude, too. One's viewpoint is invariably changed by the attitude of the people with whom one associates a great deal. Val sometimes thought, with wry amusement, of how naïve she used to be before she started going around with Susan and her friends—how absurdly unsophisticated. Well, she had got over it now. Wade's interest was proof enough of that. The Valerie Kent of a year ago, the wide-eyed girl Rick Colby had loved and wanted to marry, simply would not have attracted a man like Wade at all. The passing thought of Rick was like an agonizing prick of pain through hazy layers of anaesthesia. Val's mind hurried on, leaving Rick purposefully behind. He was a part of the past, and as Wade's wife, she wouldn't have time to dwell on the past, which was exactly what she wanted. Wade would fill her days with gaiety, her nights with passion. Their life together would be made up of all the glittering things that money could buy, the amusing people who are drawn by wealth, the fascinating places which are invariably expensive. And yet, Val thought in all fairness to herself, she wouldn't be marrying Wade merely for his money. He was attractive to her, whether what she felt for him was, in the purest sense, love or not. Marriage to Wade would be, Val thought with hardness, a flippancy of which she wouldn't have been capable a year ago, fun while it lasted. And if it didn't last—as it very well might not—well, no hearts would be broken and no one hurt too deeply.
They had been standing in the lobby, arm in arm and curiously quiet, as Val's thoughts raced on. Now the doorman indicated that he had a cab for them and they went out through the chill wind off the lake and got into the car that waited, warm and a bit stuffy, at the curb.
Wade's tone, giving the address of his apartment to the driver, was a bit tentative, Val realized, as though he wasn't quite sure how she would take their destination. But she offered no objection. She had been to Wade's apartment with others on innumerable occasions—infrequently alone with him. A year ago, Val wouldn't have gone with a man to his apartment at almost midnight. Now she thought nothing of it. For that matter, Wade's wasn't the only apartment she had visited under such circumstances. And nothing had arisen yet which she couldn't handle quite competently.

Circleville Garden Club Hears Rose Authority

H. H. Allen Speaker;
Mrs. Watt Tells About Show

Approximately 50 members and guests were present for the meeting of the Circleville Garden club, held Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Bryce Briggs, North Scioto street.

William Cook, president, conducted the short business session. Members answered roll call by giving their "Favorite variety of rose". Mrs. Donald H. Watt, program chairman, presented H. H. Allen, Chillicothe, member of National Association Rose Society, who spoke on "Roses". Mr. Allen is an outstanding rose gardener of Chillicothe.

Mr. Allen opened his discussion on roses by saying, "Over 100 years ago, in Utah the first rose was grown in the United States, and the Hybrid Tea rose is the most thrilling. A rose that is well cared for will live for many years." He said, "If you have roses in your heart you can grow them. Largest rose bush in the world is found in the state of Florida. It is 50 feet high, and covers a half acre of ground. Paul's Limon pillar rose is the largest rose. It is nine inches in diameter and is grown in Canada. Smallest rose blooms are found in England. They measure a fraction of an inch."

"Man's favorite color in a rose is red, and a woman's is pink." Each Hybrid Tea rose has its own fragrance. He said in his own garden there are over 300 rose bushes. "Roses are very temperamental, and experience is the best teacher in raising the plants. You must work out your own garden conditions." He listed 12 points for a successful rose garden, and said to order from the "All American Rose Selection" an organization of specialists—look for markings AARS—printed on U. S. map. He suggested not to be the first to buy a new rose and not the last to throw the old rose away. He submitted the names of many fine roses to grow.

Mrs. Watt gave the highlights of the 24th national flower and garden show, which she attended March 13 through 23, held in the International Amphitheatre at Chicago, Illinois. She said, "It was a spectacle of unforgettable loveliness."

She mentioned the "Spring garden of 15,000 flowers, Rainbow Fountain garden, old Korean garden (exotic beauty of the East), amateur displays—all entries made by past prize winners in national shows; 17 classes for arrangers—75 classes for growers. Cyclamen display was of unusual interest with over 100 blooming plants which had been flown from Holland for the show. Rose display of many blooms, one arrangement was valued at $1,000. There were American beauty roses with 10 foot stems, which took eight months to grow. Albino roses and foliage were quite different, and tree roses in many varieties were displayed. Orchid display was wonderful, and the Hawaiian table was outstanding. Mrs. Frank Garry, Cincinnati, past state president of Ohio association of garden clubs was one of four judges for the arrangements.

1946-47 calendars were presented to each member and the club held a seed exchange. New members of the Circleville Garden club are, Mrs. John R. Downs, Mrs. Robert V. George, Mrs. Jay Clark, Dr. W. L. Sprouse and Mrs. Sprouse and Dr. Richard Samuel.

Mrs. Robert Bower was awarded first prize in the class 1, button garden arrangement. Mrs. Watt received first prize in class 11, still life arrangement. Mr. Cook judged the arrangements.

April 16 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Fred E. Duncan, 133 Pinckney street, Dallas D. Dupre, Jr. state department of highways, will be guest speaker. His topic will be "Roadside Parks" which will be illustrated by Kodachrome slides.

Logan Elm Grange Plans For Contest

Forty members were present for the regular session of Logan Elm grange members with Hoyt Timmons, master, presiding. During the business session, Mrs. Otis Leist reminded the group of the molasses cookie contest which will be held April 21. Illness of Mrs. C. A. Dresbach, Mrs. Charles Baldoser, and Mrs. Dan Hinton was reported. A letter was read from John Cunningham, former state secretary, which was written before his death, concerning plans for the grange members in the coming year.

In the absence of the program chairman, the members furnished their own entertainment and program, which consisted of games, contests and songs. Crile Investigators Say VA Hospital Criticisms Not Justified

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—A four-man special investigating board of the veterans administration issued a report today refuting most of the charges leveled at the administration of the Crile VA hospital in Cleveland

by a resigning department chief. Criticisms of the operation of the hospital were detailed by Dr. Alan B. Adam in a newspaper interview on March 8 simultaneously with his resignation as head of the institution's neuropsychiatric service. He charged Dr. Harrison S. Collisi, Crile manager, with alleged maladministration.

The investigating board supported only one of 17 major points of criticism made by Dr. Adam. It refuted most of the other 16 charges or noted that the conditions criticized were beyond the control of any officers of the VA.

A sworn statement given to the board by Dr. Adam during its investigation was included in the report. In it, Dr. Adam declared:

"In retrospect it has become more and more apparent to me that my charges against the management of Crile hospital were excessive."

The resigning psychiatric chief also stated that he "acted following a long series of frustrations involving personality clashes, especially between myself and the manager."

The report was made to deputy administrator Ralph H. Stone of the Columbus VA branch office by Drs. Howard D. Fabing, Cincinnati, Dwight M. Palmer, Columbus, S. Spafford Ackerly and Russell B. Crawford, Lakewood.

Stone said that 11 specific recommendations for improvements in the situation at Crile made by the board would be put into effect as soon as possible.

PRODUCERS OF POTATOES TO GET AAA HELP

Producers on farms for which no potato goals were set will be eligible for price support if the acreage of potatoes on the farm does not exceed 2.9 acres, John G. Boggs, chairman of the Pickaway county agricultural conservation committee said today. However, such producers must give advance notice to the county committee that they want to be considered eligible for price supports.

Boggs also warned that growers who are not sure whether potato goals have been established on their farms should apply to the county committee for acreage determinations. Applications must be in writing and must be filed with the committee by June 1, 1947. Such growers, otherwise, will not be eligible for price supports on this year's potato crop.

Because of excessive potato production in recent years, the department of agriculture announced last Fall that only those growers who plant within their acreage goals will be eligible for government price supports on the 1947 potato crop. Pickaway county has five farms that have potatoes goals amounting to 70.0 acres.

HOUSE GROUP TO PROBE CHARGES AGAINST UNIONS

Committee Wants To Know If Small Businessmen Are Being Victimized

WASHINGTON, March 20 — A house subcommittee today launched a probe to determine whether small businessmen are being victimized by unions.

Rep. Hoffman (R) Mich., committee chairman, announced that small business representatives would be called to testify whether labor unions have employed "coercion and intimidation" toward small concerns.

Hoffman reported the investigation will determine whether the Hobbs anti-racketeering act has been properly enforced by the justice department. In criticism of justice department policy, Hoffman said:

"The record over the years shows very clearly that those gentlemen (of the justice department) have not undertaken all the prosecutions they could because labor unions are involved.

"It's a matter of common knowledge that unions — some of them — have practiced racketeering for the past seven years."

THE INVESTIGATION on a national scale is the direct outgrowth of testimony heard by the committee on the prolonged Philadelphia produce market tie-up.

At the outset of the hearing, which concluded yesterday, the committee was concerned specifically with the Philadelphia situation where a dispute between a local AFL teamsters affiliate and produce merchants and haulers has existed since January 6.

Hoffman decided to widen the scope of the committee's work after merchants and haulers contended they were "in growing fear" of union retaliation because they testified.

They charged they were subjected to physical and economic threats by union "strong-arm men" and that they had been forced to join "bogus employers associations" set up by the local union.

The committee's findings on the Philadelphia situation will be made known early next week.

rank of veteran groups and congress itself—has so snafued the veterans housing program that no action whatever is expected.

In such an atmosphere, the revived Wagner-Ellender-Taft low rent housing bill hasn't the chance of the proverbial snowball in hades, and even existing rent controls may die by default.

Even unanimity of effort on the part of major veterans organizations has failed, as yet, to influence the house civil service committee to improve the veterans' preference possibilities in jobs covered by civil service. Instead, they have lost ground.

In short, it may be unkind but certainly it is not untruthful to say that, good or bad, most veterans legislation already is getting little more than lip service from this first postwar congress.

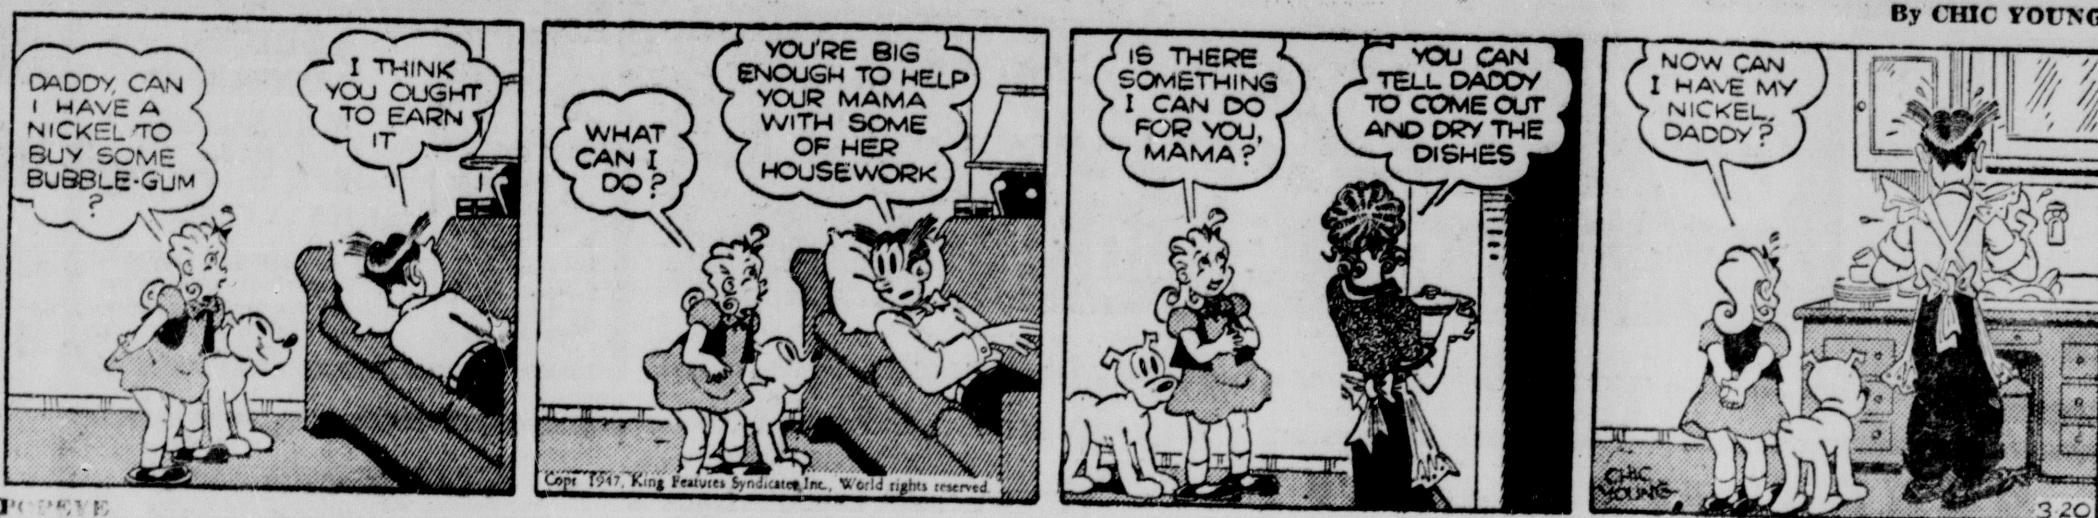

Opinions expressed by the writer in the column are the views of the author and not necessarily those of the Circleville Herald.

NEW YORK, March 20—Rail if you will against stinging commercials, but anti-jingling is highly over-rated. Some of the tunes have gobbled more juke box nickels than "Open the Door, Richard" and a half dozen or so have grown to concert stature. The latest successful saga of a musical advertisement is the tale of a church-going candy bar. The story began one Sunday on "David Harding, Counter-Spy". Each week after Harding and justice triumph, Elaine Howard sings about the delectable quality of the chewy candy. We would like, Mr. William J. Ryan up Upper Darby, Pa., wrote in, to have a recording of the jingle. He had, he explained, been putting on weekly dances to raise money for a new parish house for St. Laurence church. To keep the guests amused while dance records were being changed, he thought the folks might enjoy listening to the catchy tune of the candy ditty. His intermission entertainment was so successful, he's collecting recordings from other sponsors. The folks in Upper Darby like to dance to them. Probably the most popular of them all, Chiquita Banana, started a new radio engagement on St. Patrick's day. This, the advertiser notes, had nothing to do with green tipped bananas. Tropical bananas are not to be put in refrigerators, the ditty reminds, but they go

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

11 TRICKS ON ONE CARD
SOME OF the biggest "swings" in the game can depend on the play of a single card. Such things happen in every form of the game—slap-dash social rubber sessions, tight rubber battling among tough campaigners, club duplicate games and the biggest national championship competitions. Much of the charm of bridge comes from the fact that there is ever present the possibility of such startling developments favoring one side or the other.

East is the player who reported this deal, on the strict promise that his identity would not be revealed—all of which is understandable when you learn what happened.

It was late in a duplicate game, and South reckoned his pair's only chance to win depended on getting away with a few spectacular scores. When he heard East's heart bid, he envisioned the probability of a heart lead by West if he himself bid game in No Trumps. So he shot for it. When East doubled, making a heart lead still more likely, he decided to stick by his guns and redoubled. He gambled on the chance that East would not play the A on the first heart trick—and was he right?

West led the heart 9 and East, after studying just a moment, put on the 10. South won with the K, then ran six clubs and six diamonds to take all 13 tricks for an impossibly high score. Now just notice what would have happened if East had played his heart A on the opening trick. He would have run six hearts and five spades—11 tricks more than he did take. In other words, the play of one card on one trick determined the fate of 11 tricks.

J. Wray Henry Named Secretary Of South Central Ohio League

J. Wray Henry, principal of Circleville high school, was elected secretary of the South Central Ohio league at the annual Spring meeting of the circuit Wednesday night in Greenfield.

Mr. Henry succeeds C. E. Boohar, principal of McClain high school at Greenfield.

Resignation of Chillicothe high school, which has been a member of the league in basketball only, was received and accepted. Chillicothe has withdrawn from the SCO to enter the Greater Ohio league.

Seeking a replacement league members selected a committee to contact London school officials to invite that school to join the circuit. Named on the committee were A. B. Murray, Washington C. H. school superintendent; Superintendents Paul Upp, Hillsboro, and H. W. Hodson, Wilmington.

Varsity basketball championship was awarded to Chillicothe and reserve title to Greenfield. A trophy was awarded Chillicothe and Greenfield has the right to purchase one for the reserve champions.

Members adopted a resolution proposed by coaches which provides that no league football games be played before September 30. This will be effective for the 1949 season.

All - league football teams will be chosen in the future by coaches. Each coach will make his selections for an 11-man first team and the team will be selected at the annual Fall meeting. Each coach can withdraw nominations at the meeting. In Basketball coaches also will select teams. Coaches make their nominations and teams are selected by majority vote. Each coach may veto players of his own school. (First selections by coaches will be found on Page 10.)

The group adopted a resolution endorsing the Daniels-Cramer school bill now before the legislature and the secretary was instructed to write to the governor, representatives and senators of the counties represented in the league.

Big Four Ministers Are Nearer Agreement

DEPUTIES AGREE TO LISTEN TO HITLER AIDES

French Yields On German Reparations Issue At Conference

MOSCOW, March 20—The big four council of foreign ministers, plagued until now by divergencies and disputes, sailed into calm waters today under the flag of two major developments.

They were:
1—Deputies appointed to draft a peace treaty for Germany agreed to hear former enemies of the allies which later turned against the Hitler Reich.

2—France modified her position regarding reparations, agreeing that these may be paid out of current German production "with certain assurances."

Foreign minister Georges Bidault presented the economic case for France.

HE REFERRED at the beginning to the remark made by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov yesterday that various four-power attitudes may well be reconciled, Bidault said:

"If, as Mr. Molotov believes, it is possible at the same time to maintain German coal exports at a desirable level, limit the increase of industrial potential to peaceful activities alone and set afoot a program of reparations based upon current production, the French delegation is favorable."

Bidault was firm, however, in stressing the necessity for definite limitations on German steel production.

AGED GREENFIELD MAN MURDERED IN HIS HOME

GREENFIELD, O., March 20—Leroy Woodland, 74-year-old pensioner, died in Greenfield municipal hospital today of a mysteriously inflicted blow on the head.

Highland County Coroner W. M. Hoyt said the blow crushed Woodland's skull and jaw and apparently was inflicted by a blunt instrument.

The murder occurred at Woodland's home in Higginsville, just outside Greenfield.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kierman

Greek leftists say Harry Truman has set out to become "master of the world"—obviously somebody has been sending them touched up photographs.

One look at Harry Truman and anyone would know he's not the type who would want to become master of the lodge unless he was drafted for it.

He doesn't squawk like Mussolini, screech like Hitler or scratch like Napoleon—somehow they've confused the motto of Missouri, "show me!" with "I'll show you!"

It is true that we are sending 12 warships to Greece but the Greeks grow fine olives and we could use some fresh olive branches.

Anyway it will take our mind off March wheat which is acting like the March hare.

It's gone up so high that wheat in the field has passed corn in the bottle.

DECLARED rightful governor of Georgia, Melvin E. Thompson, who was the lieutenant governor, happily receives congratulations in Atlanta at his wife and mother, Mrs. E. I. Thompson, left, look on. The state supreme court made the decision which moved Herman Talmadge, who claimed the governorship, out of the executive office.

NEW GEORGIA Scioto And Darbyville GOVERNOR TALKS Schools Forced To Close

Thompson Makes His First Appearance As State Chief Executive

ATLANTA, GA., March 20—The fate of Georgia's white primary was in the hands of acting Gov. M. C. Thompson today.

Governor Thompson went before a joint session of the house and senate at noon, making his first public appearance as Georgia's full-fledged, legally recognized chief executive.

The 43-year-old former revenue commissioner was expected to make known his views on the white primary, as well as the possibility of an extra session. The current session of the general assembly ends Saturday.

All bills signed by Herman Talmadge in his two-month occupation of the governor's office are null and void after a ruling to that effect by Attorney General Eugene Cook.

If the general assembly follows the suggestion of Attorney General Cook, it can avoid the necessity of re-enacting all of the legislation.

Cook advised that the house and senate agree that all bills now bearing Talmadge's signature be resubmitted to Thompson for his approval or veto.

Vacancies now exist in the offices of commissioner of revenue.

OHIO'S FLYING FARMERS READY TO MEET FRIDAY

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—If there are blue skies over Columbus tomorrow, Ohio Farm and Home week visitors will see an estimated 100 pioneer "pasture pilots" circle and land at Don Scott field.

Arrival of an expected 200 air-minded farmers on the Ohio State University campus will mark the first meeting of flying farmers during a farm and home week program anywhere in the United States.

William Grimes, Delaware, vice president of Ohio Flying Farmers, reported that tomorrow's special program for flying farmers will also mark the first meeting of his group since its inception last July.

Organized as a flying fraternity to further the cause of agriculture and to promote safe private aviation, the 138 original members already perform aerial surveys for contour farming, and crop dusting and spraying to kill weeds and harmful insects.

Grimes pointed out that Ohio farmers, like those in other states, are indulging in a great deal of pleasure flying. He stated that 75 per cent of new light planes sold today are going to farmers.

Scioto And Darbyville Schools Forced To Close

With nine schools in Circleville and Pickaway county closed Thursday the prevalent wave of severe colds and influenza had caused the absence of more than 2,000 boys and girls from their school classes. There are 21 public schools in the city and county.

Two more rural schools—the Scioto township high and elementary school and the Darbyville elementary school in Muhlenberg township—were closed Thursday by George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools.

The Duvall and South Bloomfield elementary schools in Harrison township had previously closed, thus four out of the total of 15 rural schools have been compelled to cease operations because of illness among students.

Circleville's four public elementary and one high school closed at noon Wednesday by order of the board of education and Supt. Frank Fischer said they would remain closed until Monday morning.

Supt. McDowell was unable to state when the four rural schools will resume operations.

Circleville schools have a total enrollment of 1,492, Supt. Fischer said, and Wednesday morning

ANOTHER BRIBE STORY HEARD BY LIQUOR PROBERS

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—Another story of attempted bribery to permit the operation of slot machines—this time of $10,000 a year—was laid before the senate's special liquor investigating committee today.

Sgt. Russell Jones, head of the Cincinnati police department's vice squad, told the committee he had been offered the job of agent-in-charge of the Cincinnati liquor enforcement office in 1945.

But the offer, he stated, was withdrawn when he refused the attempted bribe. He left the inference that if he had agreed to permit slots to operate, he would have been given the position.

LIQUOR BARGAIN SALE TO START IN OHIO MONDAY

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—A half-million-dollar liquor bargain sale beginning next Monday was announced today by state liquor director Stanley B. Cofall.

Cofall said that the cut in prices averaging 49 cents per bottle was made to reduce excess inventories in state warehouses. He said that 22 different items were being put on sale, including both cordials and whiskies.

MINERS AGREE TO LEWIS ORDER

Most Coal Diggers Slated To Forget Strikes Until June 30

PITTSBURGH, March 20—The nation's bituminous coal miners today put their stamp of approval on John L. Lewis' stick to work order and said they were ready to stay on the job and continue digging coal after March 31.

The news of Lewis' cancelled strike threat spread over the soft coal patches as the miners began changing shifts. Generally they appeared to go along with the order until June 30.

Many even said they would attempt to prevent wildcat work stoppage on their traditional holiday—John Mitchell day—April 1. John Mitchell day was founded in honor of the fourth president of the United Mine Workers under whose 19-year tenure the union grew from 33,000 members to 300,000 by 1906—making it one of the strongest labor bodies in the nation.

The general feeling among the miners of the rich bituminous fields of western Pennsylvania and West Virginia was that they

Mrs. Anderson Tells Of 'Terrible' Conditions

"Terrible" is the one descriptive word used by Mrs. Martha Goeller Anderson, former Circleville resident, in telling about conditions in European countries she visited during the last seven months.

Mrs. Anderson, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Goeller, Sr., 304 East Mound street, arrived in Circleville, Tuesday, with her husband, Major Frank Anderson, U. S. Army, who is on a 60-day leave after spending almost three years in Europe.

Following a brief visit with Mrs. Anderson's parents the couple went to their home in the village of Ray, south of Chillicothe.

Major Anderson was stationed in France for about two and one-half years, later was stationed in Germany, and he was also for a short time in Switzerland. At the duration of 60-day leave he expects to be assigned to an Army station either in Texas or Kansas.

FARM BUREAU IS ATTACKED BY EDWIN J. BATH

Lobbyist For 18 Years Says Co-op 'Dangerous To Our Form Of Government'

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—The Ohio Farm Bureau was condemned as "dangerous to our form of government" today by the man who served it as lobbyist for 18 years.

Edwin J. Bath, the diminutive firebrand who is now a special assistant in the state agriculture department at $8,000 a year, said he objected "to the one-man control exercised by Murray D. Lincoln and the bureau's tieup with labor in ganging up on industry."

He continued:

"I don't like this talk of revolution that is coming from Farm Bureau leaders."

Bath was appearing before the senate agriculture committee in support of a bill to increase the state agriculture board from 10 to 12 members. He explained his appearance by declaring he was "accused of being a stooge for Lincoln."

BATH DECLARED he personally was against the Farm Bureau or other co-ops and declared he wished to alleviate the expressed fears of some that he was bringing the Farm Bureau "philosophy" into the state government.

"I would not bring it in," Bath declared. "With much of that philosophy I dissent."

Bath declared he also objected to tax favoritism shown farm co-ops over private enterprise and declared that as far as the Farm Bureau was concerned he did not like "a board of trustees that is a rubber stamp to Lincoln."

SPRING SLATED TO START WITH RAIN FALLING

Miss Spring of 1947 is due to arrive in the Circleville area—with her luggage—at 6:13 a. m. Friday.

The luggage will include a heavy coat, galoshes, and an umbrella—with perhaps ear muffs and snowshoes.

The weatherman predicted cool and cloudy weather for Friday with probable rain.

The thermometer registered 33 degrees above zero at 8 a. m. Thursday. Light snow turned to a drizzle of rain and by 1:15 p. m. Thursday the mercury had climbed to 40 degrees. At the latter hour one year ago the reading was 61 degrees.

On March 21, 1946, the date of Miss Spring's last arrival, the low reading was 34 degrees and the high was 71.

Bonuses For Ohio War Veterans And Teachers Move Step Nearer Facts

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—Bonuses for Ohio's school teachers and war veterans moved a long step nearer today.

A joint house-senate military affairs subcommittee agreed on all phases of a soldier bonus except the method of financing, while the senate finance committee opened hearings on Governor Herbert's proposal to pay a six million dollar "bonus" to teachers the first half of this year.

The soldier bonus tentatively agreed upon would eliminate the overseas differential originally proposed and pay flat $10 a month for each month's service between Pearl Harbor and V-J days.

Previously, $15 a month for overseas service had been suggested. The flat $10-a-month is expected to cut the cost to about 375 million dollars, to be paid for by bonds maturing in 20 or 25 years.

The committee agreed there would be a $50 minimum bonus and no maximum. Actually, since there are 46 months between the deadlines, a $460 maximum is provided.

However, the immediate survivors of a person killed in service would receive $500.

It was agreed also that the bonus, if approved by a three-fifths vote of the legislature and then by the people at the November election, would be paid only to persons having at least three months' service in the rank of Army captain or lower, and who were residents of Ohio for one year prior to entering service.

TO BE DECIDED at the next meeting next week is the method of financing. One plan being considered is to levy additional taxes, possibly on real estate.

CO-ED, FIANCE DENY MURDERS

Wealthy California Girl, Youth Accused Of Dynamite Plot

SANTA ANA, Cal., March 20—A 17-year-old heiress-coed and her young fiance insisted today they were innocent of a suspected bizarre murder plot in the violent deaths of the girl's parents in a yacht explosion.

Booked at the Santa Ana jail on suspicion of murder were Beulah Overell, mink-clad University of Southern California co-ed, and her strapping 220-pound sweetheart, George Gollum, 21, a Los Angeles City College pre-medical student.

Police investigated reports that the girl's parents, Walter E. and Mrs. Beulah Overell, Flintridge, Cal., had opposed the couple's intended marriage.

The betrothed girl and young man refuted these reports, contending that the wealthy Mr. and Mrs. Overell actually approved the match.

The couple was arrested after 38 sticks of unexploded dynamite and an electric timing device were found in the wreckage of the Overells' 50-foot power cruiser, the "Mary E", which blew up at Newport Beach, Cal., last Saturday night.

The bodies of Overell, wealthy head of the Washington Finance company, and one-time owner of the Overell Furniture company, Los Angeles, and his wife were found in the cruiser's galley.

PRINCIPAL QUILTS LANCASTER, O. O. H. Schaaf resigned today as principal of Lancaster high school to accept a similar position with the Cleveland Heights high school. Miss Ruth Hudson was named acting principal of the Lancaster school.

CONGRESS TOLD BALKAN AID IS VITALLY NEEDED

Acting State Secretary Says Middle East Will Fall Without U. S. Help

WASHINGTON, March 20—Acting Secretary of State Acheson told congress today that President Truman's plan to check the spread of Communism by aiding Greece and Turkey would not bring war.

Rep. Mansfield (D) Mont., asked Acheson at the house foreign affairs committee hearing on the Greco-Turkish aid proposal whether U. S. military and financial help to the two countries might not lead to war.

Acheson replied: "I was going to say there was no possibility of its leading to war."

"I don't see how it can lead to war."

"By strengthening the forces of democracy and freedom and their economic structure it will do a great deal to eliminate a situation which might produce friction among the great powers."

THE ACTING secretary told the committee that unless the President's request for 400 million dollars to aid Greece and Turkey is approved totalitarian regimes will control the Middle East.

Rep. Fulton (R) Pa., asked Acheson to answer with "yes or no" this question:

"Suppose Russia adopts the same policy toward Greece? Has the state department developed a plan of action?"

Acheson answered: "No."

He said he preferred to discuss with the committee in secret session the effect the President's proposal would have on U. S.-Russian relations.

Acheson testified: "It is not too much to say that the outcome in Greece and Turkey will be watched with deep concern throughout the vast area"

POLICE CHIEF DENIES CHARGES OF COUNCILMEN

Police Chief William F. McCrady flatly denied, Thursday, that he ever ordered police officers not to raid a gambling place and he said the charges hurled at Tuesday night's council meeting by Councilman George L. Crites were "untrue."

Councilman Crites told the council that two policemen—not named—informed him that Chief McCrady had warned them that if they raided a downtown gambling establishment he would suspend them.

Chief McCrady declared that he called in all of the six policemen under his supervision, Wednesday, and that each, in the presence of witnesses, asserted he had made no statement of the kind to Councilman Crites.

Other police officers said Thursday that, in their opinion, the charges of police inefficiency made at the council session resulted from the request of Chief McCrady and the six men serving under him "for a living wage."

WEATHER

Circleville temperature was 33 degrees above zero at 8 a. m. Thursday and 38 degrees above zero at 11:30 a. m. Thursday. On the same date a year ago the low reading was 33 degrees above zero and the high was 61 above zero.

STUDENTS CONTINUE ON STRIKE AT CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, O., March 20—An estimated 100 students, ranging in age from 10 to 16, paraded in front of suburban North College Hill schools today as the second day of a student strike began.

The striking students are protesting failure of the community's board of education to retain Dr. William A. Cook as superintendent of schools.

Of a normal attendance of 500 students at adjoining junior high and senior high schools, only about 50 students were reported in attendance when classes opened this morning. All were in the senior high school.

UN COUNCIL IS FACING TEST ON MINING CHARGE

Tribunal Needs Action On Corfu Incident To Regain Prestige

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 20—The United Nations security council is facing a test of strength today in dealing again with the British complaint that Albania committed "a crime against civilization" by secretly planting mines in the Corfu channel.

Inability of the eleven-nation tribunal over a period of two months to assert its own authority and reach a decision on this comparatively minor incident has given rise to growing criticism.

Concern over this viewpoint and the shock to UN prestige in the wake of President Truman's by-passing of the international organization in recommending aid to Greece and Turkey has reached such proportions that key officials at Lake Success and in the various capitals are consulting over the situation.

SECRETARY GENERAL Trygve Lie is anxiously sounding out leading representatives of powers at UN and casting about for ways and means of restoring lost prestige. His efforts are concentrated on inducing any or all of the representative governments to make a gesture of firm support and unbroken adherence to UN.

Chief target as the "mischievous" in the family of nations in recent days has been the United States in the wake of President Truman's announcement on direct aid to Greece and Turkey. Although American delegations spokesmen claim that there is no direct connection, it is regarded as significant that Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. representative, is leaving for Washington today to confer with high government officials.

Diplomatic observers are inclined to believe that Austin, acting as spokesman for the majority opinion of most delegations here, may urge upon Washington staging a demonstration that United States faith in the support of the United Nations remains unshaken.

REBEL PLANES BOMB CAPITAL OF PARAGUAY

ASUNCION, March 20—Rebel aircraft bombed and strafed Paraguayan government positions for the first time today amid indications that the revolutionists are planning a large-scale ground attack on the capital city of Asuncion.

The rebel planes were believed to have been four which failed to return to a government airfield recently after a routine mission against the insurrectionists.

Meanwhile government militia and police rushed to strategic points in Asuncion while reports of the impending rebel offensive heightened city-wide tension.

The rebel radio warned Asuncion inhabitants that Chaco troops under Colonel Ramos were massing for an operation against President Morinigo's stronghold.

Bonuses For Ohio War Veterans And Teachers Move Step Nearer Facts

In either event, however, it was felt that real estate would have to be pledged to guarantee salability of the bonds.

The senate finance committee indicated the six millions for teachers would be made available as soon as possible. Governor Herbert proposed that the money be distributed on a basis of 40 per cent of the regular May 31 distribution.

Walton Bliss, executive secretary of the OEA, explained that the six millions, split among 40,000 teachers and 15,000 other school employees, would average about $109 a person.

MEANWHILE, the house yesterday passed an emergency appropriation bill to give the welfare department, the six state universities, the soldiers and sailors home at Sandusky and the soldiers and sailors orphans home at Xenia $3,639,266 to complete projects already under way.

The bill, which now goes to the senate, gives $3,301,700 of the total to the welfare department.

The house also passed a bill removing the ban against public officials operating school buses.

The senate passed four bills, including one to permit county health commissioners to close schools which fail to carry out public health requirements.

A bill was introduced to establish a nine-member commission to investigate un-American activities in the state, and appropriating $25,000 for expenses.

DEPUTIES AGREE TO LISTEN TO HITLER AIDES

(Continued from Page One) text of a statement made in Berlin on Dec. 31, 1945 by Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, whose troops overran the German capital.

Sokolovsky's statement said: "To permit Germany an annual capacity of nine million tons of steel would mean war in a few years."

After quoting this remark, Bidault asked:

"Then what must we expect from a capacity of from ten to twelve million tons?"

The Soviets have based their demands for increased German production as the best and surest method of obtaining reparations for war damage.

Bidault said that France, like the United States, is prepared to examine figures on German industrial production.

Bidault said that if Germany needs more steel to raise her production to any higher level that may be authorized.

"France, Belgium, Luxembourg and other European countries are perfectly capable of furnishing her with the required balance."

BIDAUULT took issue with the opposition voiced by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin to international control of the Ruhr valley and to guarantees that France would be well taken care of in receiving sufficient coal from the Ruhr mines.

Bidault asked Bevin to reconsider his objections to coal guarantees for France. He insisted that the margin of "insufficient use" of coal in Germany is considerable, and said that even now coal consumption in Germany is greater per capita than in France.

DEPUTIES dealing with the problem of former pro-German nations agreed rapidly on what had been a thorny problem.

The deputies said they would recommend that these former enemy states who used their armed forces against Germany should be "heard" along with other allied states by the council of foreign ministers "at an appropriate stage."

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—A bill limiting portal-to-portal pay suits to one year from the date of the complaint was recommended for passage today by the house judiciary committee.

The committee knocked out previous amendments which would have retained the present three-year statute of limitations for individual suits and reported the bill as originally printed, limiting all suits to one year.

CINCINNATI, O., March 20—Death from carbon monoxide fumes ended today marriage plans of 24-year-old Joseph Hufnagel and his 29-year-old fiancée.

They were found dead in the man's automobile in his Cincinnati garage late yesterday. Police said Hufnagel and Miss Bernice Iona Queen apparently had been dead since late Saturday night or early Sunday.

OHIO HOUSE COMMITTEE FAVORS PORTAL PAY BAN

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—A bill limiting portal-to-portal pay suits to one year from the date of the complaint was recommended for passage today by the house judiciary committee.

The committee knocked out previous amendments which would have retained the present three-year statute of limitations for individual suits and reported the bill as originally printed, limiting all suits to one year.

CINCINNATI, O., March 20—Death from carbon monoxide fumes ended today marriage plans of 24-year-old Joseph Hufnagel and his 29-year-old fiancée.

They were found dead in the man's automobile in his Cincinnati garage late yesterday. Police said Hufnagel and Miss Bernice Iona Queen apparently had been dead since late Saturday night or early Sunday.

Scioto And Darbyville Schools Forced To Close

Supt. McDowell reported that 89 of a total of 320 students at the Scioto township school were reported ill, and about 30 per cent of the 82 enrollment total at the Darbyville school.

Although the remaining 11 rural schools have not closed, Supt. McDowell said, rather heavy absenteeism has been reported from various areas in Pickaway county, particularly in Ashville and in Monroe township.

NEW GEORGIA GOVERNOR TALKS

Talmadge's appointments to each of these offices were declared null and void by the senate in an executive session yesterday.

Gov. Thompson already has named his selections to these posts, but his appointments must first be approved by the senate before they become official.

All the outgoing departmental heads submitted their resignations to Thompson, and vacated their offices.

The governor's offices, turned over late yesterday to Phil Landrum, Thompson's executive secretary, are in shape for occupancy by Thompson.

This will be the first time since ex-governor Ellis Arnall resigned that Thompson has set foot in the executive suite. He has occupied a desk in the senate president's office since Talmadge's inauguration.

The governor's mansion also is empty, and Gov. and Mrs. Thompson are expected to move into the official residence as soon as possible. Talmadge and his family removed their personal belongings from the mansion within two hours after hearing the court decision.

HUNDREDS of interested spectators jammed the old house caucus room as the hearings opened. Movie cameras clicked the klieg lights glared.

Rep. Eaton (R) N. J., foreign affairs committee chairman, declared it was the purpose of the hearings to furnish congress and the American people "all the pertinent facts."

He said this was necessary so that "a final and intelligent judgment can be reached upon a foreign policy which will affect for good or ill not only our own country but the entire world."

The acting secretary said that armed bands under Communist leadership are already fighting "Greek against Greek." He added:

"In the event of economic collapse and government paralysis, these bands would undoubtedly increase in strength until they took over Greece and instituted a totalitarian government similar to that prevailing in the countries north of Greece."

"The rule of an armed minority would fasten itself upon the people of Greece."

Acheson said the situation in Turkey is substantially different but that Turkey also needs United States help.

AGED FATHER OF TWO PRINCESSES DIES ON COAST

Mystery Surrounding Death Of Former Socialite Partially Lifted

SACRAMENTO, CAL., March 20.—Reports that Edmund Stallo, 55-year-old father of two European princesses, had died in abject poverty in Sacramento Sunday were branded as "completely false" today by Mrs. Ardean Kennedy, Carmichael, Cal.

Mrs. Kennedy said Stallo had been a patient at the nursing home she conducts near Sacramento since October, 1945. He died Sunday of bacterial pneumonia in Sacramento county hospital.

Mrs. Kennedy said the reports that Stallo had died in poverty probably grew out of the fact that he died in a county institution. She said he had been placed in the hospital only after efforts on the part of "four or five doctors" had failed to get him space at Mercy or Sutter hospitals in Sacramento.

She said Stallo was given a private room at Sacramento hospital and was in the continuous care of two private nurses until his death.

MRS. KENNEDY said Stallo had been given "the best of medical care" while in her charge.

She said he had been placed in her care by a former wife, Mrs. A. V. Thompson, San Francisco.

Mrs. Kennedy's statements lifted a shroud of secrecy which had been cast around the death and burial of the man who a generation ago was a well-known figure in social circles of New York and Cincinnati.

Hospital officials said they had no information beyond the fact that he had died. The funeral directors refused to discuss the case "on strict orders from the family." Stallo's name was not listed in the obituary columns of Sacramento newspapers.

Mrs. Kennedy said the body is being taken to Cincinnati for burial in the family plot.

She said Stallo was the son of a corporation lawyer, who was minister to Rome under the administration of Grover Cleveland. His first wife was the daughter of a wealthy family, and the two daughters born of this union were subsequently married to European princes.

BOGGS URGES SMALLER 1947 POULTRY CROP

farms, as recommended by the U. S. department of Agriculture and the Ohio USDA council, Boggs said, calls for decreased production as a means of helping to adjust the nation's farm flocks to a desirable level by January 1, 1948.

Boggs also pointed out that the adjustments sought in Ohio will help to balance off changes in the production pattern in feed-deficit states in 1946. Poultry flocks, in such states, he said, need to be replenished. In other states, where feed problems were less severe in 1946, it will be necessary to hold production to the same or somewhat lower levels than last year.

Without such adjustments, Boggs said, the nation faces the prospect of over-supply in another year and consequent reaction in farm prices.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Do Men Like Women?

Maybe you read that recent article in a national magazine, claiming that American men don't really like the company of women. They just put them up on a pedestal and leave them there.

But I wouldn't say that that was so in our town. Look at any married couple—like the Cuppers. Jane wouldn't nag if Dee spent his evenings "with the boys"—but actually Dee likes nothing better than to stay home by the fire, sharing a glass of beer with Jane, playing cribbage, or just talking.

And when he does go out, for an afternoon of fishing down at Seward's Creek, or for an evening glass of beer at Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern, Jane is almost always with him (except when she's got a spot of baking in the oven).

From where I sit, respect doesn't rule out everyday companionship . . . and never should. They go together—essential parts of a successful marriage.

Hang on to your Hearts, Folks — it's easy to lose them to this one

Sure as sunrise, it's going to happen:

Someday you're going to slip into a sleek-lined Buick Convertible "just to see what it feels like."

You'll want to find out for yourself if it's as wonderful as it seems to ride in all this stunning style — to be boss of the year's brightest highway beauty.

Well, you find a wheel that seems molded to your hand, deep, wide seats that might have been fashioned for your own special comfort.

You'll look out over a broad bonnet, front-tipped with a richly gleaming grille, and know how a king feels sitting on his throne.

Just listen as eight big Fireball cylinders erupt into life — then settle to a sweet contented purr.

Watch—as each threatening road-jar meekly subsides under the gentle magic of soft coil springs on all four wheels.

Get the feel of roadweight that's like a steady hand guarding every mile. Try the handy push-button controls that operate the top, the door windows, even the front seat adjustment.

Test the lightness of the wheel, the quick bite of brakes, the instant upsurge when you touch off the gas treadle.

By now, you find yourself succumbing completely.

This, you tell yourself, is meant for me. How do I make it permanent?

The first step is to see us — and get your name down.

After that — the busy beavers of Buick's on-the-ball production staff will move heaven and earth to join you and your one-and-only the first possible moment.

LIVING IN ONE'S ERA

IN REVOLT AGAINST what they term the "dehumanizing" combination of factory work and congested city living, are the "decentralists". They would have man rediscover his "whole personality" by existence in rural homesteads and by self-creation of necessities. Machinery's mass production, by forcing competition for world markets, caused both world wars, and most of the world's ills, they believe. The School of Living at Suffern, N. Y., and Arthur Morgan's Community Service Inc., at Yellow Springs, O., are examples of this philosophy which glorifies handcraft and a social economy divorced from the machine.

There is much appeal in the idyllic picture of a small community where citizens are artists and liberated from industrial pressures and standardization. But the Machine Age has come, and after it the Atomic Age. Trying to avoid the actualities of the era in which one is born means running into inconsistencies. Who of the decentralists would forego the vast intellectual benefits made possible by the machine age in publishing? Would they give up planes, trains and automobiles in favor of the ox cart? In sickness would they turn from the mechanized therapy of a modern hospital?

A sane life pattern can be maintained within the framework of an era. Effort can be directed to making the present as good as possible for the greatest number now living. Man can achieve fulfillment in any age, in any circumstance, if he will but use his will and his intelligence.

LOST ART OF WALKING

ALMOST ANY DAY now the hiking clubs will start up again. In these are people of varying backgrounds and interests brought together by a knowledge of what legs are for. Every big city has them, and some smaller communities. They meet at the end of some car line, walk what seems an amazing distance in this age of the auto to some designated spot where they picnic—and then walk back.

They not only benefit their bodies by this lost art of walking. They help their inner beings, for many of them are lonely individuals. They have come from country towns where they used to walk—to church, to the grocery store, to a neighbor's. It's been difficult to get acquainted in the big impersonal city. The walking club starts friendships. Sometime the walkers rise, on holidays and Sundays, extra early and start out for a bird walk. They go to a wide stretch of parkland, or to the country. Some one who has made a study of bird life, leads them.

People don't need to join a walking club, to walk. But they should do more walking. The automobile is a wonderful blessing.

Yet it's being depended on so generally that the human body suffers. Walking is the best kind of exercise, physically and mentally.

What is more annoying, and at the same time more reassuring, than a hot spring sun pouring through the window onto a fellow's neck when he has copy to write?

ASSIGNMENT: AMERICA

By Kenneth L. Dixon

WASHINGTON, March 20 — Since the new eightieth congress carries history's highest percentage of veterans (just short of a majority in both houses), many ex-servicemen and women across the country still look to it for large amounts of veteran legislation.

They appear doomed to disappointment, for several reasons.

To begin with, veterans in congress seldom reach full agreement on any one measure. Politically, they are divided between the two major parties, and thus have definite party commitments. In addition, their personnel includes veterans of three wars the Spanish-American, World War I and World War II, and their points of view on veteran legislation tend to be conditioned accordingly.

Besides those contradictions within their own ranks, they face an economy-minded congressional majority, a nation-wide post-war de-emphasis on military service—prompted by potent anti-veteran lobbying groups—and the competition of extremely pressing labor, tax and foreign affairs problems.

Whatever the reasons, various veterans organizations have reached the conclusion that several planned pieces of ex-serviceman legislation now have been placed in the permanent pigeonhole.

For instance, they say it now is pretty definitely settled that there will be no federal bonus, no preferential tax exemption for veterans and no extension of social security coverage for periods of military service.

In support of that and similar pessimistic prophecies, such spokesmen for veterans groups quote recent publicized statements by two Republican leaders — Rep. Harold Knutson, Minnesota chairman of the powerful house ways and means committee, and senator Eugene Millikin, Colorado chairman of the senate finance committee, which controls most of the veterans measures in the upper house.

Both saw little hope for new or even extended veterans benefits. Knutson went farther, saying he believes the present exemption of $1,500 granted military personnel for income tax purposes in the war years should not be continued after the official end of the war.

Open expressions of doubt by other congressional leaders that any major veterans legislation would be passed during this session were underscored by these recent developments on capitol hill:

Legislation to increase the monthly income ceilings for veteran job trainees seemed to be stalled in the house veterans affairs committee room because the chairman, Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers, would not get house rules committee permission to place it on the floor for vote.

The same sort of delaying tactics seem to be holding in committee the proposal of permit veterans to cash their terminal leave bonds, despite the reported efforts of Speaker Joe Martin to get it on the floor for action. A petition to pull it out of committee still is far short of the necessary 218 signatures.

Public hearings on bills to raise the monthly subsistence allowance for veterans in college (no $65 and $90) show signs of going on indefinitely, depending on when the various college and university presidents and registrars can find time to come from all parts of the country to testify. Rep. Homer A. Ramey, chairman of the subcommittee considering the bills, has indicated no intention of setting a time limit on the hearings until every such individual who wishes to testify can be heard.

There are countless other indications of the likelihood that this session will close with little veterans legislation passed. Confusion as to what is wanted—both in the

Report on a New Method Of Treating Pneumonia Patients

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

TREATMENT of more than 1,000 cases of pneumonia without a single fatality at U. S. Naval Hospital, Great Lakes, Illinois, during the war, points the way to a life-saving routine of handling those sick of this serious ailment. Dr. Gordon J. Kaske of the U. S. Navy Medical Corps in reporting on these cases, contrasts the results obtained when patients were treated with sulfadiazine alone and when the sulfonamide drug was used in connection with penicillin. When the two drugs were used together, the patient's recovery was much more rapid than when either was used alone.

The treatment given After this fact was established, the following treatment was given: Penicillin was given by injection into the muscle as soon as a diagnosis of pneumonia was made and then continued every three hours until recovery took place. Meanwhile sulfadiazine was also given at four-hour intervals. If the white blood cell count fell too low, sulfadiazine was discontinued. If the patient had a high temperature or signs of lack of water in the body, a solution of salt and sugar was given into a vein.

Shortness of Breath In those cases in which there were cyanosis, shortness of breath and rapid pulse, oxygen treatment was carried out. The proper drug was employed for relieving severe pain, restlessness or severe cough. The pneumonia started in all cases with such symptoms as fever, chills, cough, pains in the chest and frequently the coughing up of blood. The face was flushed; there were fever blisters about the lips and the breathing was rapid. There was a great deal of sweating and often cyanosis or a bluish coloring to the skin.

Dr. Kaske points out that in the treatment of pneumonia, good nursing care is an item of major importance. During the period of recovery all of the pneumonia patients were allowed some manner of activity. The use of penicillin was continued until the patient's temperature remained normal for a period of about three to five days. If, after this time, he continued to be free of fever, he was allowed out of bed.

The patients were not allowed to return to their usual activities until they had regained their normal weight and no abnormal conditions were found in the chest on physical and X-ray examinations. Not one of the patients treated in this manner succumbed to the pneumonia, and this fact should point the way toward the saving of many civilian lives this year.

SYNOPSIS

Young Sherry Kent refuses to forego the pleasure of a weekend at the farm of Steve Jeffrey, beloved family friend, even though her mother, Leda, and sister, Val, have changed their plans about going. Leda, attractive widow and highly successful business woman, is dining with Roger Bedloe, vice-president of her firm, and Val with wealthy Wade Carrington, with whom she is trying to forget her heartbreak over the death in action of her fiancé, Rick Colby. Val is tormented by the knowledge that had it not been for Leda's opposition, she and Rick would have married before he went overseas. Alighting from the train at Brundage, Sherry spies Steve's station wagon parked nearby and climbs in to wait for him. To her surprise, attractive Lex Morell, who introduces himself as Steve's hired man, takes the wheel. Lex had been in the brokerage business before the war, and upon his release from the Army had decided to get some practical experience before investing in a farm of his own. Warm-hearted, elderly Aunt Bea, who keeps house for Steve, greets Sherry joyously. Later, when Steve arrived, and all had consumed Aunt Bea's delicious dinner, a strange feeling of happiness stole over Sherry. She knew instantly her meeting with Lex was responsible. Her happiness is short-lived, however, when Steve tells her Lex is engaged to be married. Lex was troubled, Steve added, because his fiancée was opposed to him buying a farm. During the night Sherry hears Lex pacing the floor and knocks on his door to invite him down to the kitchen for a snack. While Lex is in the kitchen, Steve, but is disappointed when he fails to confide his troubles to her. Meanwhile, at home Val phones Wade to pick her up at Susan Pyle's cocktail party. Despite the fact that he has been married and divorced several times, Wade has fallen deeply in love with Val.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

IN THE hallway, helping Val into her fox jacket, Wade's hands lingered caressingly on her shoulders. She smiled up at him obliquely, her pulses racing.

Wade said, his voice intimately low, "Suddenly, I wish we weren't going out to dinner. I'll mean another crowd, more noise—and I want you to myself, darling. I want that very much."

Val said prosaically, "But I'm hungry."

Wade laughed, shrugging into his overcoat, picking up his hat. "Never fear, sweet. I'll feed you. But afterwards—"

The Pump Room was crowded, but a waiter in livery led them immediately to the table Wade had reserved. It was a good table—Wade knew his way around. Val settled back comfortably against the padded leather bench, letting her wrap slip from her shoulders and looking about with casual interest while Wade ordered for them both. The atmosphere here always appealed to her—the little Negroes in their fantastic turbans and gorgeous raiment, weighed down with dignity, the food borne to the tables on flaming sword points, all against the restful background of slate-blue walls and sparkling crystal chandeliers. As always, her eyes sought the replica of the old pump near the entrance, the amusing anachronism that gave the smart supper club its name.

Wade said, as the waiter left, "There—that's done. And you shall eat, darling—although I always thought that people in love lost their appetites."

"Am I supposed to be in love?" Val asked, her smile teasing.

"I hope so."

The orchestra started playing and people rose from tables all about them and converged on the dance floor.

Wade asked, "Shall we?" And then, as Val got up, he murmured close to her ear, "It's the only civilized way I can put my arms around you in these surroundings."

Dancing, they were beautiful to watch, moving so effortlessly, with such rhythmic and instinctive grace, to the persuasive swing of the music. They danced as though they were so enthralled with one another that they were unaware of the other dancers all about; as though their nearness created a small, inviolate world into which they had escaped.

And even when the music stopped and they went back to their table, their absorption in each other held. Eating, talking, lingering over their cigarettes and coffee, it seemed to Val that only they two in all the big crowded room were real, as though the rest were shadowy beings, without substance, moving unobtrusively beyond the edges of a dream. She had experienced this sensation before when she was with Wade Carrington. But never had the feeling been so strong, her surrender to it so willing. And it seemed to Val, remembering how earlier that evening she had fled from herself and from the searing memory of Rick, that the effect of Wade's personality upon hers was a good thing. If he could stimulate her feelings to quick response, if he could give her forgetfulness—well, what more was there than that? What more in the way of association could she want or need?

They danced once more. Then, walking back toward their table, Wade asked, his low voice coaxing, "Can't we go now, darling? I want to talk to you—really talk. There are things I want to say, something I want to ask—and I'll be darned if I'll ask it here."

Val smiled, offering no objection as he slipped her wrap about her shoulders. While he paid the check, adding his usual generous tip, she gathered up her purse and gloves with a heady little feeling of anticipation. She thought she knew what Wade wanted to tell her, possibly what he meant to ask. And somehow tonight she felt more certain what her answer would be than she had ever felt before.

If Wade's question concerned marriage, her answer would be yes. After all, why not? Val was too much of a realist to be insensitive to the obvious advantages of marriage to Wade Carrington. His fortune was large and assured, even in these times of pyramiding taxes. The family background was good, although Wade himself had little to do with the rest of the Carringtons, whom he considered definitely stuffy. He was handsome, well-mannered, amusing and undeniably attractive. Val was aware, as they left the restaurant, of several feminine heads turning to watch Wade with approval. It was always like that. As for the disadvantages of marriage with Wade, Val went on with her thoughts, there was the first, the obvious one—the fact of his having been so many times married. A year ago, Val knew, she would have dismissed the idea of marrying a man who had already had three wives as completely ridiculous. But one changes in a year.

Susan Pyle, all that gay crowd Val had met through Susan, took Wade's marital adventures entirely for granted. So many people they knew were twice divorced—why not three times? It simply wasn't important. That was the attitude of Susan's crowd—and gradually it had become Val's attitude, too. One's viewpoint is invariably changed by the attitude of the people with whom one associates a great deal. Val sometimes thought, with wry amusement, of how naïve she used to be before she started going around with Susan and her friends—how absurdly unsophisticated. Well, she had got over it now. Wade's interest was proof enough of that. The Valerie Kent of a year ago, the wide-eyed girl Rick Colby had loved and wanted to marry, simply would not have attracted a man like Wade at all.

The passing thought of Rick was like an agonizing prick of pain through hazy layers of anaesthesia. Val's mind hurried on, leaving Rick purposefully behind. He was a part of the past and, as Wade's wife, she wouldn't have time to dwell on the past, which was exactly what she wanted. Wade would fill her days with gaiety, her nights with passion. Their life together would be made up of all the glittering things that money could buy, the amusing people who are drawn by wealth, the fascinating places which are invariably expensive. And yet, Val thought in all fairness to herself, she wouldn't be marrying Wade merely for his money. He was attractive to her, whether what she felt for him was, in the purest sense, love or not. Marriage to Wade would be, Val thought with hardness, a flippancy of which she wouldn't have been capable a year ago, fun while it lasted. And if it didn't last—as it very well might not—well, no hearts would be broken and no one hurt too deeply.

They had been standing in the lobby, arm in arm and curiously quiet, as Val's thoughts raced on. Now the doorman indicated that he had a cab for them and they went out through the chill wind off the lake and got into the car that waited, warm and a bit stuffy, at the curb.

Wade's tone, giving the address of his apartment to the driver, was a bit tentative. Val realized, as though he wasn't quite sure how she would take their destination. But she offered no objection. She had been to Wade's apartment with others on innumerable occasions—infrequently alone with him. A year ago, Val wouldn't have gone with a man to his apartment at almost midnight. Now she thought nothing of it. For that matter, Wade's wasn't the only apartment she had visited under such circumstances. And nothing had arisen yet which she couldn't handle quite competently.

Circleville Garden Club Hears Rose Authority

H. H. Allen Speaker; Mrs. Watt Tells About Show

Approximately 50 members and guests were present for the meeting of the Circleville Garden club, held Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Bryce Briggs, North Scioto street.

William Cook, president, conducted the short business session. Members answered roll call by giving their "Favorite variety of rose". Mrs. Donald H. Watt, program chairman, presented H. H. Allen, Chillicothe, member of National Association Rose Society, who spoke on "Roses". Mr. Allen is an outstanding rose gardener of Chillicothe.

Mr. Allen opened his discussion on roses by saying, "Over 100 years ago, in Utah the first rose was grown in the United States, and the Hybrid Tea rose is the most thrilling. A rose that is well cared for will live for many years." He said, "If you have roses in your heart you can grow them. Largest rose bush in the world is found in the state of Florida. It is 50 feet high, and covers a half acre of ground. Paul's Limon pillar rose is the largest rose. It is nine inches in diameter and is grown in Canada. Smallest rose blooms are found in England. They measure a fraction of an inch."

"Man's favorite color in a rose is red, and a woman's is pink." Each Hybrid Tea rose has its own fragrance." He said in his own garden there are over 300 rose bushes. "Roses are very temperamental, and experience is the best teacher in raising the plants. You must work out your own garden conditions." He listed 12 points for a successful rose garden, and said to order from the "All American Rose Selection" an organization of specialists—look for markings AARS—printed on U. S. map." He suggested not to be the first to buy a new rose and not the last to throw the old rose away. He submitted the names of many fine roses to grow.

Mrs. Watt gave the highlights of the 24th national flower and garden show, which she attended March 13 through 23, held in the International Amphitheatre at Chicago, Illinois. She said, "It was a spectacle of unforgettable loveliness."

She mentioned the "Spring garden of 15,000 flowers, Rainbow Fountain garden, old Korean garden (exotic beauty of the East), amateur displays—all entries made by past prize winners in national shows; 17 classes for arrangers—75 classes for growers. Cyclamen display was of unusual interest with over 100 blooming plants which had been flown from Holland for the show. Rose display of many blooms, one arrangement was valued at $1,000. There were American beauty roses with 10 foot stems, which took eight months to grow. Albino roses and foliage were quite different, and tree roses in many varieties were displayed. Orchid display was wonderful, and the Hawaiian table was outstanding. Crile Investigators Say VA Hospital Criticisms Not Justified

COLUMBUS, O., March 20—A four-man special investigating board of the veterans administration issued a report today refuting most of the charges leveled at the administration of the Crile VA hospital in Cleveland

by a resigning department chief. Criticisms of the operation of the hospital were detailed by Dr. Alan B. Adam in a newspaper interview on March 8 simultaneously with his resignation as head of the institution's neuropsychiatric service. He charged Dr. Harrison S. Collis, Crile manager, with alleged maladministration.

The investigating board supported only one of 17 major points of criticism made by Dr. Adam. It refuted most of the other 16 charges or noted that the conditions criticized were beyond the control of any officers of the VA.

A sworn statement given to the board by Dr. Adam during its investigation was included in the report. In it, Dr. Adam declared:

"In retrospect it has become more and more apparent to me that my charges against the management of Crile hospital were excessive."

The resigning psychiatric chief also stated that he "acted following a long series of frustrations involving personality clashes, especially between myself and the manager."

The report was made to deputy administrator Ralph H. Stone of the Columbus VA branch office by Drs. Howard D. Fabing, Cincinnati, Dwight M. Palmer, Columbus, S. Spafford Ackerly and Russell B. Crawford, Lakewood.

Stone said that 11 specific recommendations for improvements in the situation at Crile made by the board would be put into effect as soon as possible.

PRODUCERS OF POTATOES TO GET AAA HELP

Producers on farms for which no potato goals were set will be eligible for price support if the acreage of potatoes on the farm does not exceed 2.9 acres, John G. Boggs, chairman of the Pickaway county agricultural conservation committee said today. However, such producers must give advance notice to the county committee that they want to be considered eligible for price supports.

Boggs also warned that growers who are not sure whether potato goals have been established on their farms should apply to the county committee for acreage determinations. Applications must be in writing and must be filed with the committee by June 1, 1947. Such growers, otherwise, will not be eligible for price supports on this year's potato crop.

Because of excessive potato

production in recent years, the department of agriculture announced last Fall that only those growers who plant within their acreage goals will be eligible for government price supports on the 1947 potato crop.

Pickaway county has five farms that have potato goals amounting to 70.0 acres.

HOUSE GROUP TO PROBE CHARGES AGAINST UNIONS

Committee Wants To Know If Small Businessmen Are Being Victimized

WASHINGTON, March 20 — A house subcommittee today launched a probe to determine whether small businessmen are being victimized by unions.

Rep. Hoffman (R) Mich., committee chairman, announced that small business representatives would be called to testify whether labor unions have employed "coercion and intimidation" toward small concerns.

Hoffman reported the investigation will determine whether the Hobbs anti-racketeering act has been properly enforced by the justice department. In criticism of justice department policy, Hoffman said:

"The record over the years shows very clearly that those gentlemen (of the justice department) have not undertaken all the prosecutions they could because labor unions are involved.

"It's a matter of common knowledge that unions — some of them — have practiced racketeering for the past seven years."

THE INVESTIGATION on a national scale is the direct outgrowth of testimony heard by the committee on the prolonged Philadelphia produce market tie-up.

At the outset of the hearing, which concluded yesterday, the committee was concerned specifically with the Philadelphia situation where a dispute between a local AFL teamsters affiliate and produce merchants and haulers has existed since January 6.

Hoffman decided to widen the scope of the committee's work after merchants and haulers contended they were "in growing fear" of union retaliation because they testified.

They charged they were subjected to physical and economic threats by union "strong-arm men" and that they had been forced to join "bogus employers associations" set up by the local union.

The committee's findings on the Philadelphia situation will be made known early next week.

NEW YORK, March 20—Rail if you will against singing commercials, but anti-jingles is highly over-rated. Some of the tunes have gobbled more juke box nickels than "Open the Door, Richard" and a half dozen or so have grown to concert stature.

The latest successful saga of a musical advertisement is the tale of a church-going candy bar.

The story began one Sunday on "David Harding, Counter-Spy". Each week after Harding and justice triumph, Elaine Howard sings about the delectable quality of the chewy candy.

We would like, Mr. William J. Ryan up Upper Darby, Pa., wrote in, to have a recording of the jingle. He had, he explained, been putting on weekly dances to raise money for a new parish house for St. Laurence church. To keep the guests amused while dance records were being changed, he thought the folks might enjoy listening to the catchy tune of the candy bar ditty.

His intermission entertainment was so successful, he's collecting recordings from other sponsors. The folks in Upper Darby like to dance to them.

Probably the most popular of them all, Chiquita Banana, started a new radio engagement on St. Patrick's day. This, the advertiser notes, had nothing to do with green tipped bananas. Tropical bananas are not to be put in refrigerators, the ditty reminds, but they go well in cakes, fritters, milkshakes and babies.

ing five shows daily at the Capitol Theatre on Broadway.

Robert Merrill refuses to carry a luck charm even though many classical singers do. The baritone star feels that the mental hazard involved overshadows any good fortune it might bring. He knows one singer who left his favorite talisman home and was so upset that he gave the worst performance of his career.

Hildegard's modern art collection, now valued at close to $250,000, is being catalogued by the Associated American Artists for exhibition purposes. Twenty-four paintings from her collection are currently on exhibition in art galleries throughout the country.

Sammy Kaye's broadcasts of "So You Want to Lead a Band" and "Sunday Serenade" are now originating in New York after a two and a half month tour by the Kaye aggregation. It's no vacation for the wing and sways who, in addition to the two weekly network programs, are playing five shows daily at the Capitol Theatre on Broadway.

As though Perry Como didn't have enough to keep him occupied with his thrice-weekly "Supper Club" broadcasts, recordings and film stints, he has taken on another chore. The baritone will reveal his writing talent as a radio columnist for "Movie Play." His first article will appear in an early issue of the magazine.

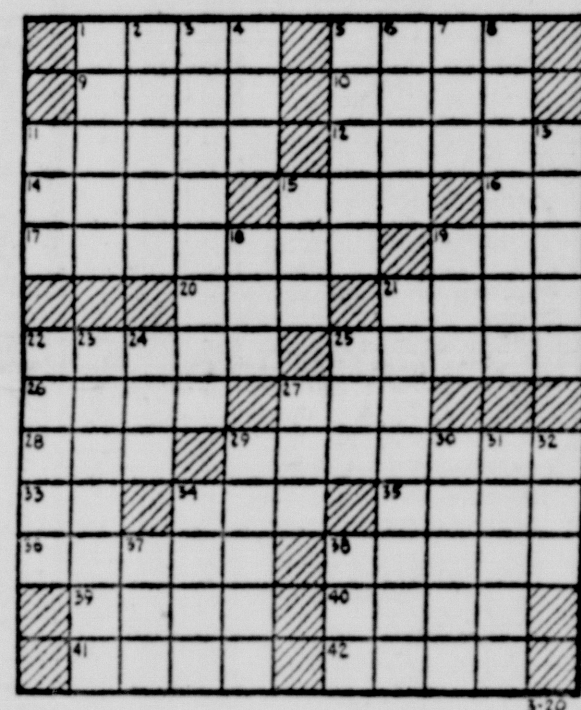

Paul Lavalle, conductor of "Highways in Melody" has hit the juke boxes. The maestro's rendition of the classical "Hera Staccato," recorded by his Friday night "Highways in Melody" program orchestra, is being played in the nickelodeons all over the country. Juke box operators are viewing this phenomenon with considerable interest since it may forecast a new trend.

They claim that city dwellers never know their next door neighbors — even those who live on the same floor. Maestro Percy Faith and Jay "Mr. District Attorney" Jostyn seem to be in the same boat though they

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

11 TRICKS ON ONE CARD
SOME OF the biggest "swings" in the game can depend on the play of a single card. Such things happen in every form of the game—slap-dash social rubber sessions, tight rubber battling among tough campaigners, club duplicate games and the biggest national championship competitions. Much of the charm of bridge comes from the fact that there is ever present the possibility of such startling developments favoring one side or the other.

East is the player who reported this deal, on the strict promise that his identity would not be revealed—all of which is understandable when you learn what happened.

It was late in a duplicate game, and South reckoned his pair's only chance to win depended on getting away with a few spectacular scores. When he heard East's heart bid, he envisioned the probability of a heart lead by West if he himself bid game in No Trumps. So he shot for it. When East doubled, making a heart lead still more likely, he decided to stick by his guns and redoubled. He gambled on the chance that East would not play the A on the first heart trick—and was he right?

West led the heart 9 and East, after studying just a moment, put on the 10. South won with the K, then ran six clubs and six diamonds to take all 13 tricks for an impossibly high score.

Now just notice what would have happened if East had played his heart A on the opening trick. He would have run six hearts and five spades—11 tricks more than he did take. In other words, the play of one card on one trick determined the fate of 11 tricks.

J. Wray Henry Named Secretary Of South Central Ohio League

J. Wray Henry, principal of Circleville high school, was elected secretary of the South Central Ohio league at the annual Spring meeting of the circuit Wednesday night in Greenfield.

Mr. Henry succeeds C. E. Bocher, principal of McClain high school at Greenfield.

Resignation of Chillicothe high school, which has been a member of the league in basketball only, was received and accepted. Chillicothe has withdrawn from the SCO to enter the Greater Ohio league.

Seeking a replacement league members selected a committee to contact London school officials to invite that school to join the circuit. Named on the committee were A. B. Murray, Washington C. H. school superintendent, Superintendents Paul Upp, Hillsboro, and H. W. Hodson, Wilmington.

VARSITY basketball championship was awarded to Chillicothe and reserve title to Greenfield. A trophy was awarded Chillicothe and Greenfield has the right to purchase one for the reserve champions.

Members adopted a resolution proposed by coaches which provides that no league football games be played before September 30. This will be effective for the 1949 season.

All - league football teams will be chosen in the future by coaches. Each coach will make his selections for an 11-man first team and the team will be selected at the annual Fall meeting. Each coach can withdraw nominations at the meeting. In Basketball coaches also will select teams. Coaches make their nominations and teams are selected by majority vote. Each coach may veto players of his own school. (First selections by coaches will be found on Page 10.)

The group adopted a resolution endorsing the Daniels-Cramer school bill now before the legislature and the secretary was instructed to write to the governor, representatives and senators of the counties represented in the league.
